MORE DELAY IS FORECAST FOR TARIFF

Regulars Likely to Make Effort to Agree on Insurgent Measure

DROP OLD PROVISIONS

Administration Backers to Fight for Remnants of Original Bill

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Copyright 1929 by Post Pub. Co.

Washington—Just what will effect, if any, would come from the delay of the administration tariff bill has not been made very clear either at Capitol Hill or in the administration quarters.

Leaders on both sides now concede that the tariff measure cannot possibly be gotten out of the way during the special session unless there are tight sessions and a complete change of front on the part of the Democrats and insurgents.

Sometimes there is an expedient of legislation when it is least expected and the senate can get into action if it so desires almost overnight. But the trouble now is that the Smoot-Hawley bill as it passed the house is so unsatisfactory to members of the senate that it will have to be rewritten in order to get any action on it at all.

At this time there has been little discussion on the part of administration leaders to concede that the situation has passed out of their control. It is wrong to assume also that the Democratic-insurgent coalition will see that legislation dropped altogether. The minority, on the other hand, while holding the whip hand, does not care to assume responsibility for the writing of a new tariff bill. It will, therefore, be left to the leadership of Senator Borah of Idaho, who has already intimidated his opponents of the Smoot-Hawley bill into rewriting it.

CONSIDER REVISED BILL

A conference of leaders has been called to determine a course of action. The upshot of the whole situation will be an agreement on the part of the regular Republicans to give consideration to a revised bill as presented by the insurgent Republicans. The Democrats will probably take no part in actually revising the bill but will be constantly consulted.

The administration will then be in the position of attempting to get the Democratic and insurgent Republican coalition to accept as much of

Warrant Is Issued In Fatal Crash

A warrant charging manslaughter was issued Tuesday morning by District Attorney Stanley A. Stalld for Victor Diestler, Hortonville.

Diestler's automobile struck and fatally injured Alvin Schuelke, 20, Milwaukee, on Highway 26 near New London about 7:30 Sunday night.

The warrant for Diestler's arrest was issued at the request of Sheriff Fred W. Giese, who investigated the accident and said he believed that Diestler was criminally negligent. The sheriff expected to serve the warrant Tuesday afternoon.

The accident occurred when Schuelke stopped at the side of the road to change a tire. Sheriff Giese said his investigation showed that Schuelke's car was completely on the concrete and that when Diestler approached it he swung sharply and struck the Milwaukee youth pinning him between his own car and Diestler's machine. Schuelke's mother, who was standing several feet from the car watching her son at work, narrowly escaped being hit by Diestler's machine, the sheriff said.

Diestler explained, according to Sheriff Giese, that he had been blinded by the lights of an approaching machine. Diestler was cut and slightly bruised.

The Milwaukee man was rushed to a hospital at New London by Albert Marsch, a farmer living near the scene of the accident. He died about two hours later.

M'INTIRE TO LEARN FATE NEXT WEEK

Former Green Bay Schools Superintendent Offers Resignation

Green Bay—(AP)—The sentencing of Ira H. McIntire, former superintendent of schools, who pleaded guilty to embezzling $4,404 of school money, was deferred until next Monday after a lengthy hearing here yesterday.

The continuance was granted on the motion of the defense attorney who said his client would be able to make restitution by next week. The move was strongly opposed by V. C. Jewell, district attorney.

District Attorney Jewell said the defendant had since last July to make restitution. Defense counsel countered with the statement that the state had not given McIntire access to the figures of the school books in order that the shortage might be determined. He said his client's friends would advance the money if McIntire were placed on probation.

The district attorney opposed probation or any leniency for the former superintendent, contending that such a move would have a bad effect upon hundreds of school children who have watched with interest the prosecution of their superintendent.

Two principals—those of East and West high schools—testified that McIntire had asked them to remove the school account books to their homes so that they would be inaccessible to the auditors. One of them complied with the request because he had "implicit faith" in his superior. The other refused to remove the books.

OIL TRANSPORT VESSEL LOSES CARGO IN CRASH

Mexico City—(AP)—A dispatch to El Universal from Tampico today said the tanker San Dunstony of the Eagle Oil Transport company grounded on a sand bar off Tampico in the high seas yesterday.

The crew of 42 and two passengers landed safely but in grounding the bottom of the tanker was ripped open and 4,000 tons of oil drained into the sea.

Princess Sells Heirlooms To Meet Husband's Debts

Bonn, Germany—(AP)—The tragic last chapter of the romance of the former Kaiser's sister, 63-year-old Princess Victoria, opened yesterday in historic Schaumburg palace with auction of her heritage of heirlooms from nearly a score of kings and queens.

The auction was to raise funds to meet the debts of her youthful husband, Alexander Subkoff, Russian waiter and dancing master, whom she married against the will of her family. They were estranged later only after he had involved her to the extent of about $250,000.

Part of the palace which once was hers has been let to private tenants, while the princess herself, in disfavour with others of her family, has been reduced to four small rooms and a small pension at Mehlum on the Rhine.

FOUND ONLY GOOD WILL IN VISIT TO U. S.

MacDonald Leaves United States to Make Brief Stop in Canada

Niagara Falls, N. Y.—(AP)—In a farewell message today to the American people Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald said he left the United States "rich with the proof that while the Atlantic divides us, the cause of peace unites us."

The British statesman read his statement to a group of British and American correspondents just before he set out for a trip around the American side of the falls which carried him across the international boundary and back on British soil after 12 days in this country on a good will mission without precedent in the relations of the United States and Britain.

"I have spent 12 days among you," he said. "They have indeed gone swiftly and have been very crowded. From the moment when I arrived at this moment when I must say goodbye I have met with nothing but hearty demonstrations of friendship and with a hospitality both public and private which has approached the overwhelming."

PHRASE FOR CORDIALITY

It is impossible to mistake the meaning of your cordiality and I know that in welcoming me you have hailed the object of my visit and have cheered the message of good will which I brought to you from his majesty the king, and all sections in Great Britain.

"Your president and I have been privileged to express together in a spirit of democratic and informal frankness the relations of our two countries and the promotion of world peace. I have particularly appreciated the warmth of the reception I had from both your senate and house of representatives.

"To you all I have tried to make plain how earnestly the British commonwealth share your prayers that war shall cease, and your response has been a great inspiration.

"As I step across the border and leave you for this moment I do so rich with the proof that while the Atlantic divides us, the cause of peace unites us. That is the message from you which I am taking home with me."

REPORT STEAMSHIP ASHORE OFF ALASKA

Seattle, Wash.—(AP)—The steamship Alameda went ashore early today at the south end of Wrangell Narrows, Alaska, according to a wireless message intercepted by the radio station at Everett, Wash.

The message apparently was a request to the coast guard cutter Unalga for assistance, and said the stern of the vessel was ashore while the bow was free. The message also said she was unable to turn her propeller.

First reports gave no indication of weather conditions and nothing was said as to immediate danger. The Alameda is a cargo and passenger carrier of 3,100 tons plying Alaska waters. It was assumed she had passengers on board, but the number was not known here.

TWO KILLED AS PLANE LOSES WING IN AIR

Quincy, Ill.—(AP)—A rebuilt airplane lost a wing late yesterday and crashed here, the pilot and another being killed.

Those killed were William O'Neill, the pilot, and E. J. St. Onge of Chicago, superintendent of construction of the Quincy Memorial bridge being built across the Mississippi river.

Authorities learned that St. Onge and W. J. Howard, president of the bridge building company, recently had taken flying lessons from O'Neill, who, they said, was not a licensed instructor.

Government Rests Case In Bribery Trial Of A. B. Fall

Testimony Showing Relations With Sinclair Admitted as Evidence

Washington—(AP)—The government rested its case in the bribery trial of Albert B. Fall today after introducing testimony concerning his deals with Harry F. Sinclair, oil magnate.

The defense motion for a directed verdict was overruled by Justice Hitz and the first defense witness, Gano Dunn, president of the J. G. White Engineering corporation which constructed the naval oil storage tanks at Pearl Harbor, was called.

The government won a point in the trial today by Justice William Hitz ruling that it could introduce testimony showing Fall's transactions with Sinclair which resulted in Sinclair getting a lease on the Teapot Dome oil reserve in Wyoming.

The government desired to use the testimony to show that about the same time Fall received $100,000 from Edward L. Doheny, he also was negotiating with Sinclair who paid his son-in-law, Mahlon T. Everhart, a total of $235,500 in liberty bonds and several thousand dollars in cash.

Frank Hogan, chief defense counsel, called the court's attention to stories printed yesterday detailing remarks made on the senate floor regarding the trial.

"Aside from being an obvious tissue of lies," Hogan said, "the remarks are vicious in character."

A distinguished United States senator, Hogan said, made the "poisonous remarks." He obviously referred to Hellin of Alabama, who declared on the floor of the senate that Fall was feigning illness.

He asked that the jury be questioned when it was called in to see if any of them had read the stories. The court said all the stories had

DRIVER IN FATAL CRASH IS ON TRIAL

Manslaughter Case Opens In Circuit Court Before Judge Edgar V. Werner

Trial of John Johnston, Shawano, on charges of manslaughter in the fourth degree, opened yesterday afternoon in circuit court before Judge Edgar V. Werner.

Johnston is charged with being criminally negligent in an accident on S. Cherry-st. on Saturday, Aug. 10, which resulted in the death of Eugene Daschelet, 13 son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Daschelet, 719 W. Fourth-st.

The Daschelet boy was riding with Rudolph Dessort, 724 W. Third-st., in a car going south on Cherry-st. Johnston, going north, turned to the left to enter a filling station and Dessort's machine struck Johnston's car and then tipped. The Daschelet boy, riding in the back seat of Dessort's car, was thrown through a window and the car fell on him, crushing him to death.

Following an investigation Johnston was arrested on orders of District Attorney Stanley A. Stalld. The case is expected to go to the jury late Tuesday afternoon. Members of the jury are: Phillip Engle, route 2, Seymour; John Fuhrman, route 4, Seymour; William J. Kling, Shiocton; Mrs. William McNutt, route 2, Hortonville; Ed C. Puls, Hortonville; Mrs. Ida Slevert, route 4, Seymour; E. R. Thorp, route 1, Shiocton; George Vanderveul, Little Chute; and Hugo Kallebe, William Galubacher and Joseph Winberger, Kaukauna.

A. F. L. CONVENTION EYES LABOR STRIFE IN SOUTH

Toronto—(AP)—Full attention of the American Federation of Labor was turned today on the labor situation in the south, and the pledged endeavor of trades unions to organize the whole territory. Gertrude McMillan of the Federal Employees Federation, read a committee-approved resolution, declaring that a million working people in the south were ready to be joined in trades unions, mentioning the protracted textile mill disturbances with reference to "the cold-blooded shootings at Marion, N. C." and calling upon all international unions to furnish help and organizers for the work.

Thomas W. McMahon, president of the United Textile Workers, said that mill workers were being denied American rights and asserted that southern prejudices were "inflamed purposely by an oligarchy of capital to keep the shackles on the workers."

VOTE TO KEEP PASTORS DISMISSED BY AIMEE

Pasadena, Calif.—(AP)—Members of the Four Square Gospel church here voted last night to retain the Rev. H. E. Alford and his wife, the Rev. Roxie Alford, as pastor, in face of their recent dismissal by Aimee Semple McPherson, head of Angelus temple, the mother church.

The members voted to draft a new group of by-laws, which they said would sever the Pasadena church from the Angelus temple organization.

The action by the church members followed an address by the Rev. John Goben, recently dismissed by Mrs. McPherson, as assistant pastor of Angelus temple in Los Angeles, and the reading of affidavits involving the alleged conduct of Mrs. McPherson. Two detectives who produced the affidavits, Dr. Goben said, had been hired by himself.

King Confidential Islands Will Be Given Freedom

Washington—(AP)—Promised senate disposition of the long recurrent issue of Philippine islands' independence during the regular session is regarded by Senator King, Democrat, Utah, as tantamount to a vote for their autonomy.

As an issue complete in itself—which it has not been since 1916—an independence bill is to be considered at the December session as the result of its ineffectual injection into the tariff debate twice at this special session. Efforts were made to obtain action on the problem in 1924.

At the special session two proposals which would have led to independence for the islands were defeated on votes regarded as not representative of opinion on the issue but rather as intended to rid the tariff controversy of this rider.

Acting today, the Nationalists, majority party of the Philippines and the Philippine Independence commission approved the creation of a new independence commission to be sent here early in November. It is to be headed by Manuel Quezon, president of the insular senate.

This follows the action taken by Chairman Bingham, Connecticut, of the territories committee, in promising to hold hearings on a bill by King with a view to reporting it to the regular session when the Utah senator introduced the subject in the tariff debate.

Senator King, who has championed the cause of the Philippine through 12 successive legislative sessions said today he had "every assurance" the bill would come up for discussion early in the December session.

"What's more," he added, "I think we'll pass an independence bill through the senate."

SENATE VOTES FOR CHANGE IN SENATE GROUP

Would Recognize Commission Within 90 Days After Passage of Bill

Washington—(AP)—Complete reorganization of the tariff commission within 90 days after signature of the tariff bill would be called for under an amendment adopted today by the senate.

The amendment, adopted without a record vote, was offered by Senator George, Democrat, George, who said it was aimed to prevent continuance of the tariff commission without submitting their names to the senate.

The bill provides that the present commissioners may serve, after enactment of the new tariff law until their successors are appointed by the president and have taken office.

The George amendment would require the new appointments to be made within 90 days but would not interfere with the president's power to reappoint incumbents.

JOE DENIES DELAY

The Republican independent group opposing the tariff bill in its present form decided today against entering into an agreement with the Republican regulars to limit debate, but affirmed willingness to facilitate action for the remainder of the session.

Senator LaFollette of Wisconsin, secretary and spokesman for the group, said the western Republicans took the position that the debate thus far had indicated that no one desired unduly to delay the bill.

"We feel that the record will show," he said, "that the progress of the measure have taken as much or more time than the opponents. Our attitude therefore remains unchanged, to wit, we are willing to facilitate action for the remainder of the discussion as we have so far in the proceedings."

ITALY, FRANCE ACCEPT BRITISH BID TO PARLEY

MILWAUKEANS CHEER DRY AGENTS IN RAID

Milwaukee—(AP)—Despite the wet sentiments of Milwaukee residents, cheers—real cheers and not boogied federal dry agents when they raided a house here yesterday.

A small still and 22 gallons of liquor were seized and Mrs. Mary Tomczunas and her husband, Joe, arrested. They were held for the grand jury after a hearing.

"This is the first time that my dry agents have been cheered in Milwaukee," commented W. Frank Cunningham, prohibition commissioner for this district.

Ex-Premier Of Belgium Drops Dead

M. Delacroix Dies of Heart Attack at Conference on World Bank

Baden-Baden, Germany—(AP)—M. Delacroix, former Belgian premier, and his government's organization expert on the international bank committee here, died today of a heart attack. Yesterday he attended the meetings of the organization committee of the bank for international settlements.

At 5 o'clock a. m., M. Delacroix complained to his wife he was not feeling well and wanted to sit up in a chair. Half an hour later he dropped to the floor dead.

The international bank conference assembled at 10:30 and after passing a resolution of sympathy, adjourned. M. Delacroix was a member of the original reparations commission, a trustee for German rail bonds and a member of the committee of revision of the Reichsbank laws. He was 61 years old.

Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, German delegate, eulogized M. Delacroix as a statesman whose gentle and moderating influence "did much to remove the post-war difficulties between the European nations."

With clear insight, he said, M. Delacroix perceived that the economic distress of the post-war period could only be cured by national and international cooperation.

M. Delacroix, the Belgian delegate, was deeply moved and thanked the other delegations. "Delacroix had an enviable death in that he fell like a soldier on the field of battle, but he fell, not in cruel combat, but in the service of his country and mankind," the delegate said.

SURGEONS RESENT MAYO CRITICISM

Answer Charge of Too Much Salesmanship and Too Little Humanity

Chicago—(AP)—Resenting the criticism given hospitals by Dr. W. J. Mayo, chief of staff of the Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn., on the grounds of too much salesmanship and too little humanity at the opening session yesterday of the 13th clinical congress of the American College of Surgeons, a group of attending surgeons today issued a reply.

Dr. Mayo had asserted that some hospitals employ "supersalesmanship," placing patients in surroundings which may appeal to their esthetic sense but exceed their means, and have no value in relieving the condition from which they are suffering. He said that "hospitals must adopt better business methods, while less and think more."

Dr. Malcolm T. MacEachern, Chicago, head of hospital standardization in the congress, issued a statement today in reply to Dr. Mayo in which he said that though the cost of operating hospitals have gone up 65 per cent, charges to the patients have only increased 60 to 70 per cent.

"Surveys conducted by myself and staff reveal that there are very few hospitals in this country or in Canada that can be obtained in respectable hotels," he said. "Hospitals of this country and Canada are keenly conscious in keeping medical costs within the means of patients of moderate incomes. But too many people want too lux hospital accommodations when ordinary accommodations would suffice."

Dr. MacEachern said there was considerable resentment in the congress at Dr. Mayo's attack.

LETTER TO HOOVER

Koch then produced the letter written by Wylie to President Hoover on Aug. 15, complaining that he, Koch, was "doing everything possible to help the importers and especially the Japanese."

The letters was referred by the president's secretary to the tariff commission. Koch said it then came to his attention and he asked the tariff commission to investigate him, but no action was taken.

Koch said his friendship with Walker began in 1922 when the last tariff bill was before congress. He added he understood some representative of labor had complained of his attitude.

"I have no grudge against the pottery industry or labor," he insisted. The witness said he understood that Mr. Duffy, representing labor, and Burgess appeared before the tariff commission to complain about him. He said he had heard about the charges through Commissioner Dennis.

Replying to Senator Robinson, Republican, Indiana, he said whenever Walker was in Washington he came to see him and occasionally he would visit Walker at the latter's New Jersey home. He answered Senator Blaine, Republican, Wisconsin, that representatives of the cement industry had conferred with him many times.

HOOVER ASKED TO FIRE HIM, EXPERT SAYS

Manufacturers Attacked Him After Testimony Before Committee, He Claims

OTHERS TAKE STAND Letters to President Asking Dismissal of F. L. Koch

Washington—(AP)—A quarrel between pottery manufacturers and a pottery expert on the tariff commission was aired today before the senate lobby committee as it started its investigation of current reports that organizations had sought to influence congress in framing the tariff bill.

Frederick L. Koch, chief of the commission's pottery and earthenware division, was the first witness and related that William Burgess, a former Republican member of the commission and now an officer of the United States Pottery association, had made charges against him after he had testified before the house committee framing the tariff bill last winter.

Koch also produced a letter written by H. R. Wylie, of the Wylie Pottery company of Huntington, W. Va., to President Hoover last August asking Koch's dismissal on the ground that he was prejudiced in favor of importers.

The witness said he had recommended no rates to the house committee but that his testimony was probably detrimental to the pottery industry in its effort to obtain particular rates.

The complaint against him, he added, was that he was a personal friend of David Walker, a member of a large Japanese pottery importing firm. "He was a friend of Walker's," he said, "and he was frequently and had no apology to make for it."

No action ever was taken by the tariff committee on the charges of Burgess and Wylie.

CHANGE QUARTERS

It was nearly 30 minutes after the meeting before Koch got started. The delay resulted from a last minute decision of the committee to look for more commodious quarters than the small chamber of the judiciary committee of five, headed by Senator Cawaway, Democrat, Arkansas, shifted long and luggage to the senate office building. The room there, however, was none too large for the crowd gathered for the hearing.

At the outset the committee proposes to inquire into current reports of efforts by organizations to influence congress in the drafting of the tariff bill now pending in the senate. Later, it expects to take up reports that similar influence has been brought to bear on other legislation.

Koch said that when he was called by the senate committee, he was informed by Chairman McNutt, that charges had been made against him to the effect that he was a close personal friend of David Walker, who is associated with a large Japanese importing house.

"I replied that I had no apology to make for my friendship with Walker and that I won't ask any one to pick my friends," the witness said.

He added he had made no recommendations on rates to either the house or senate committee and said the facts which he presented to the committee "undoubtedly were detrimental to the case of the Pottery industry."

Indict Booze Buyer As Well As Seller, Judge Orders

PURCHASE IS AGAINST LAW, HE DECLARES

Kentuckian Attacks "So-called Good Citizen" Patron of Bootlegger

Lexington, Ky.—(AP)—The October grand jury of the United States district court here today was under instruction from Judge Charles I. Dawson to indict, if the evidence warranted, the buyer as well as the seller of liquor.

Attacking the "so-called good citizen" who patronizes bootleggers, Judge Dawson, former Kentucky attorney general, declared the widespread impression that it isn't against the law to purchase liquor is erroneous.

Referring to a recent decision of the circuit court of appeals of the Second district at Philadelphia, Judge Dawson said that he had not read that court's opinion, but it was his opinion "that what the court really decided was that one who purchases liquor is not such an aider or abettor of the seller as to make him guilty as a seller under the federal law."

To that extent, Judge Dawson said in his charges, "I agree with the opinion, but if that opinion holds that it is not an offense against the national prohibition act for one to purchase liquor without a permit and not on a prescription, then I cannot agree with it, because I have no doubt whatever that the Volstead act intended to and does, in express terms, make it illegal for individuals to purchase liquor for personal consumption for beverage purposes."

"I know it is frequently urged," Judge Dawson concluded, "that if you make it against the law to purchase, or if you enforce the law against the purchaser, you will hamper the enforcement of the law, because you then cannot get evidence against the seller and the manufacturer. Don't let that worry you for a minute. I have been on this bench for a little better than four years, and in that length of time we have handled between 5,000 and 7,000 liquor cases, and not in a single one of them has a citizen buyer ever appeared as a witness against a seller or a manufacturer."

RACINE MAN HELD FOR ATTACK ON YOUNG GIRL

Racine—(AP)—Following the statement of a 16-year-old girl that she had been ordered from her escort to the point of a gun and made to accompany John Sharkey, 25, who, she said, attacked her twice, Sharkey was yesterday ordered held under bond of $5,000 for trial on a statutory charge.

Circuit Court Commissioner Fred Ahlgrinn continued the case until Oct. 24 after the arraignment of Sharkey. At the same time Earl Buehlow, district attorney, ordered Sharkey's companions, Walter and Charles Creutzberg, brothers aged 24 and 21, respectively, held for questioning.

The girl told authorities she was sitting in a parked car with Bert Ingstrom, 20, near Wind Park point, north of here, at midnight Saturday when Sharkey and his companions drove up in their car. Sharkey, the girl said, ordered Ingstrom out of the car at the point of a gun and then took the girl into his car.

After driving some distance the Creutzberg brothers vacated the car. John Nelson, who was returning home from the Owl clubhouse about 8 o'clock Sunday morning, found the girl and brought her home.

JAPAN'S SERIES DRAWS MORE THAN AMERICA'S

Tokio—(AP)—Japan's own "world series" for which the average attendance exceeded that in America was decided today at the Meiji Shrine stadium. Waseda university defeated Kelo, 6 to 3, in the third and final game of a series for the national intercollegiate baseball championship.

The stadium was jammed with 30,000 spectators at each of the three games and thousands were turned away. The attendance probably would have been doubled if there had been space.

Throughout the country radio loudspeakers and newspaper scoreboards announced the progress of the games which crowded the Athletics, triumph over the Cubs to the inside pages.

VICE REPORTED AMONG GRAMMAR SCHOOL GIRLS

Milwaukee—(AP)—Hangovers from alleged drinking and petting will result today in the arraignment of Stanley Parajacki and Matthew Verhein in district court. The young men are held on statutory charges.

The arrest of the two was an outgrowth of charges of rampant vice among south side grammar school girls, some under 15 years of age. Juvenile authorities yesterday painted a picture of wild gin-parties, dances and lover's lane affairs among boys and girls in the school. An extensive investigation is to be launched.

TEACHERS TRY TO KEEP SCHOOL ROOM AROUND 68 DEGREES

Birds shed their feathers and sneeze when Mother Nature so decrees. But the annual shedding of B. V. D.'s for Tommy, Johnny and Jimmy is an entirely different story. "Mother knows best" and "you'll catch your death of cold" admonitions sound on deaf ears and the donning of the red flannels creates a scene that bids fair to divide the house against itself. It's always that way, year in and year out.

Right now, however, school teachers and nurses are confronted with the problem of trying to keep the temperature of the school room at a point where it will be warm enough for the girl whose mother doesn't insist upon long-sleeved wool dresses until the first snow falls and cool enough for the boy who has already succumbed to the red-flannel dictum. The temperature of the school room usually is kept at 68, and children are at liberty to change their seats if there is a draught, but despite this it is difficult to satisfy all pupils unless they are dressed with some consideration for the weather.

During the medical examinations being conducted in the schools at the present time, one lad was found on a warm day to be clothed bearing up under the weight of wadded underwear, an undershirt, a wool band, a sweater and a linen blouse. Naturally, a moderately heated school room would be uncomfortable for a person clothed in this manner.

END VIOLENCE IN MILK STRIKE, PLEA

Producers Association Terminated to Halt Sabotage at Kansas City

Kansas City—(AP)—An impassioned plea by several members of the Milk Producers association of Kansas City for cessation of the violence which last week marked the Kansas City milk strike apparently has brought at least a temporary peace today to nearby highways which only two days ago were the scene of vandalism and gunplay.

At a meeting of the striking producers called yesterday to hear D. N. Geyer, secretary and general manager of the Pure Milk Association of Chicago, tell of the city's milk strike last January, several of the dairymen pleaded that sabotage be stopped.

"Let's not have any more violence," said one of a half dozen men who spoke on the subject. "I don't believe any man here has had any part in it, but it reflects on our organization and we must take it up on ourselves to see that it is stopped."

W. H. Schilling, dairy member of the Federal Farm board, informed the producers by wire that he had referred to the department of agriculture a request that an expert agricultural economist be sent here to ascertain facts of the controversy between producers and distributors and lay them before the public. "The producers demand a price increase of 6 cents a gallon."

More than 2,000 gallons of milk has been dumped from trucks of distributors since the strike began Oct. 7 and several truck drivers have been threatened with guns and clubs.

CAPONE TALE PROVEN FALSE AFTER INQUIRY

Suspect Held in Chicago Not Linked With "Scarface" Gangsters

Chicago—(AP)—State's attorneys disavowed a "myth" today the characterization of Frank Biege as the executioner for "Scarface" Al Capone, but held the man for investigation on a charge of extortion. The prosecutors denied they had connected Biege with the major crimes of gangland.

Biege has been under arrest since Saturday and local newspapers published letters purporting to have been written to Capone in his Philadelphia jail cell by Biege's wife, demanding $10,000 for his safe exit from Chicago. Biege was pictured in the letters as Capone's staff lawyer.

The letters, county officers declared today, were fictitious. John E. Northrup, assistant state's attorney and Chief Investigator Patrick Roche complained that the publicity given the investigation had frustrated their plans.

"Biege may be of importance in recent gangland crimes and he may not be," said Northrup. "Premature publication concerning such matters is certain to frustrate my investigation."

The officers refused, however, to comment further. They planned to book the prisoner on a charge of extortion to forestall his release on a habeas corpus writ, hinting that Biege would soon be "put on the spot" by gang enemies if he were freed.

Biege was questioned at the detective bureau last night concerning the slaying of Benjamin Newman, former chief investigator for the state's attorney and was paraded before 50 robbery victims but was not identified.

RECEIVED NO LETTERS

Philadelphia—(AP)—Wardens Herbert Smith, of the state penitentiary, where Alphonse "Scarface" Al Capone is serving a year for carrying a loaded pistol, said today he knew nothing of the report that letters purporting to connect the Chicago gangster with killings had been intercepted in Philadelphia.

"The letters did not come from here," said the warden, "and they were never received at the penitentiary."

"When a prisoner arrives at the pen he is asked whether he would care to sign a waiver, permitting the prison authorities to open and read his mail. We do this because it is a very serious matter to interfere with a man's mail. There is no compulsion in the matter of signing the waiver. If the prisoner does not want to sign it he will not get any mail. We simply return the letter, unopened, to the sender."

PHYSICAL EDUCATOR TO SPEAK AT GYM PROGRAM

Dr. Feiring's address is scheduled to be given Monday afternoon, preceding a conference which will be attended by physical education instructors from colleges throughout the midwest. A banquet in the evening will conclude the dedication services, the final program of which has not been arranged.

The speaker is a member of the faculty of teachers' college, Columbia university, New York, and stands at the head of profession among directors of physical education throughout the country. He trained both Mrs. Katherine Wisner Mills and Arthur C. Denny, physical directors at Lawrence college.

"GOLD RUSH" IN WEST PROVES TO BE FIZZLE

Spokane—(AP)—A small but feverish gold rush which swept scores of business men and farmers from their workaday routine into a re-enactment of the wild days of '49 ebbed back today with only two men exempt from the classification of "sadder and wiser."

The "rush" started when John Stout and Peter Matson, prospectors, reported an outcrop of gold in a creek bed near Fritchard, Idaho. All walks of life deserted their trades and professions to join the resultant dash for claims.

No trace of valuable deposits were discovered outside the claims staked by Stout and Matson. Mining men say those two, however, are good ones.

TWO INJURED WHEN TRUCK TURNS OVER

Chilton Pair Taken to Hospitals at Green Bay, Neenah After Accident

Mrs. Frank Kirt, Chilton, is in Theda Clark hospital, Neenah, with a broken leg and deep gashes about the head, and Lloyd Reiss Chilton, is in a hospital at Green Bay with body lacerations and bruises as the result of an accident on Highway 10 near the intersection with Highway 57 near Forest Junction at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon.

A delivery truck owned by the Chilton Cleaners and Dyers, and driven by Mrs. Kirt, was wrecked and the occupants injured as it turned over two somersaults and landed on its side at the side of the road on highway 10.

Mrs. Kirt is said to be a part owner of the cleaning establishment while Reiss is the truck driver. Reiss is expected to leave Green Bay hospital the latter part of this week. The car was badly damaged.

EDISON ELECTRIC STOCK SLIPS WITH SPLIT-UP DECISION

Ruling by Department Did Not Receive Enough Attention

BY GEORGE T. HUGHES
Copyright, 1929, by Cons. Press
Wall Street, New York—Financial Review and Outlook—Partly because it came out over the double holiday and partly because it appeared to have at first reading, at least, only local significance, the decision of the Massachusetts department of public utilities disapproving the proposed split-up of the stock of the Edison Electric Illuminating company of Boston did not receive the attention it deserved.

In Boston the stock broke badly Monday. The decision did not come out until after the close Friday but the stock had reacted 15 points late in that session and had closed at 360. It sold down this morning to 300 for a loss of 60 points and fluctuated around that level thereafter.

The Massachusetts commission made several points in its decision. One was that to reduce the par value of the stock would "encourage the belief in the minds of many innocent people that it is the forerunner of substantial increases in dividends, with the consequent result of their investing in stock at very high prices without their hopes being realized. Any attempt to change the par value of this stock, in our opinion, should be left until the selling price on the Boston stock exchange more nearly approximates its real value."

More to be expected was the comment concerning rates. Charges of the Boston Edison for service compared, the opinion stated, unfavorably with other companies in the state. The possibility that the advertising of prosperity given by the market for public utility stocks would lead to official steps to reduce rates has been in the mind of conservative investors and of utility executives themselves continuously for the past year or two. The Boston case will strengthen this impression outside of the limits to which the decision itself referred.

PASSES UPON VALUE

Seldom has an official body attempted to pass upon the relation of market price to value in such sweeping terms. Outside observers have said the same thing many times in connection with the long rise in other electric light and power stocks but for a public utility commission to take it upon itself to protect the investor is unique.

Property holders from Drexel to Richmond-st will be assessed $2.70 a foot for installation of the ornamental lighting system on College-ave. It was decided at a meeting of the board of public works Monday afternoon. The entire project, to be done by the Art-Killoran Electric company, will cost $26,566.

Monthly bills were approved at the meeting of the finance committee Monday afternoon.

YOUNG COMMUNIST PUPIL DISMISSED FOR FORMING GROUP

Milwaukee—(AP)—Just how secretive is a young Communist? Supt. Milton C. Potter must decide.

Principal Henry Spearbrecher insisted that Joel organized a branch of the league, telling it in complete secrecy, and banning sons of capitalists.

Joel, and his parents, and about 50 other late parents, insists that he has been no more secretive than a boy scout organizer. Supt. Potter held a hearing yesterday. He suggested that Joel sign two petitions, one asking for a transfer to another school; the other pledging avoidance of membership or organization in Milwaukee schools of secret societies.

Said Joel: "I want to think it over," and took them home with him.

Circus Elephant Facing Death For Killing Woman

Bay City, Texas—(AP)—Like a human murderer, Black Diamond, nine-ton circus elephant who killed a woman in Corsicana Saturday, faced death by firing squad or by the noose today as he rolled on with the Al G. Barnes circus, chained to the steel floor or the box car which has become his death cell.

Circus men were in doubt whether they would kill the elephant with high calibre rifles or choke it to death with a huge chain. In case the latter course is adopted six of Black Diamond's herd fellows will act as executioners.

Three will be hooked to each end of a chain, as if for a tug of war. In the middle of the chain, however, there will be a loop and Black Diamond's head will be in the loop. When the tug of war starts the elephant's huge neck will be contracted until he strangles to death.

The elephant, ordinarily meek and placid like his mates, apparently went insane Saturday. Unloading at Corsicana, the elephant and his keeper passed Mrs. Eva Donohue. Something turned the beast into a nine-ton maniac and it brushed the trainer aside and charged the woman, knocking her down. It then picked her up, swung her aloft and crashed her to the ground, almost demolishing an automobile in the process.

Attendants and other elephants in the herd succeeded in getting the crazed beast under control. Since that time it has been heavily chained in a box car awaiting thinly populated countryside, where it may expiate its crime.

Still More Millions treat colds DIRECT

More and more people every year are giving up the old, indirect way of treating colds by "dosing," and are adopting the modern, direct treatment—Vicks VapoRub.

"Dosing" is not only a round-about way to treat colds, but it also tends to upset the stomach. Being applied externally, Vicks, of course, cannot disturb the digestion. Just rubbed on, it acts direct through the skin like a plaster; and, at the same time, it gives off medicated vapors which are inhaled direct to the inflamed air-passages. Today, the whole trend of medical practice is away from needless "dosing." To keep step with the ever-growing demand for this modern method of treating colds, the figures in the famous Vicks slogan are again being changed. There are now "Over 26 Million Jars Used Yearly."

11 RURAL GROUPS CHOOSE PLAYS FOR COUNTY CONTEST

14 More Groups Still Must Decide What They Will Present

Eleven of the 25 county rural organizations planning to enter the Outagamie-co home talent play contest already have chosen their plays, according to A. G. Meating, county superintendent of schools. At a meeting here last week representatives of the 25 groups formed a permanent organization which will have charge of the contest. Arnold Schultz, Grand Chute, was elected director.

Each of the organizations will elect a representative who will take part in future county meetings. It is planned to have district contests with three groups taking part in each district. There will then be a semi-final and a final county meet to choose the best group. This group will enter the state contest.

The schools which already have chosen their plays are: Blue Star P. T. A., town of Black Creek, "Mrs. Stubbin's Book Agent"; Combined Locks P. T. A., "Plenty of Time"; Knowledge Hill P. T. A., town of Heonola, "Educating Mary"; Pioneer P. T. A., town of Osborn, "Squaring It With the Boss"; Highland P. T. A., town of Freedom, "One Hundred Per Cent"; Gold Hill P. T. # Crops Improve Little As Dry Weather Holds

Weather conditions continued dry in most of Wisconsin during September with the result that crops showed relatively little improvement. A frost just after the middle of the month did some damage to potatoes and corn, though in much of the state it was not severe. The potato estimate for the state is further reduced according to the October report of the Crop Reporting Service of the Wisconsin and United States Departments of Agriculture at Madison.

The present production outlook is for a crop just a little over 20 million bushels, the lowest since 1916. Last year's production exceeded 31 million bushels. Reporters generally indicate unusually low yields throughout the state. Much of the crop is running to small sizes and the market has been active.

For the United States as a whole the potato crop is now estimated at 345 million as compared with 463 million last year. Prospects for the country as a whole declined somewhat during the past month. The production this year is about three-fourths as large as last year. Certain states have shown improvement recently, particularly Maine, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Minnesota, and North Dakota. Other states including Michigan and Wisconsin have shown further reductions. Digging is farther along than usual at this time of the year.

Corn production for the state is now estimated at a little over 80 million bushels, as compared with 91 million last year and a five year average of over 76 million bushels. The crop improved somewhat both in this state and others. About half of Wisconsin's crop goes into silos and silo filling is practically completed.

The last reports on oats and barley indicate that the production of both of these grains will fall considerably below a year ago. The average yield of oats is now estimated at 34.5 bushels and the production of 85 million bushels compares with 138 million last year. Our barley production likewise is well under a year ago. This year's yield is estimated at 32.5 bushels per acre as compared with a little over 31 last year and the production at a little over 23 million bushels is compared with nearly 27 million bushels last year. The quality of barley is very satisfactory though much of the oats grown this year is reported to be light.

Buckwheat production in the state is 100,000 bushels below last year's. The production this year is estimated to be 312,000 bushels. The frost on September 18 injured many buckwheat fields. Bean production is higher than a year ago, being estimated at 72,000 bushels, which is 18,000 bushels above last year.

Late yield figures on hay indicate that the average production of tame hay is 2.15 tons per acre this year as compared with 1.53 last year. The total tame hay production for the state is estimated at 7,708,000 tons, a new record for Wisconsin. The production per acre this year is also a new record, the highest previous figure being 2.03 in 1927. This excellent hay crop, harvested for the most part under favorable conditions, will go a long way to offset the lower production of feed grains.

Tobacco production was considerably reduced by dry weather. The

RESCUES CHILDREN FROM BLAZING HOME; CLOTHES CATCH FIRE

With his clothes burning, Willard Leiby, who lives on the upper floor of the William Vollmer home, one mile south of Hilbert, rescued his two children, a boy and a girl, from the burning house Saturday night. He was burned about the face and hands but not seriously. His flaming clothing was extinguished by his wife, after the rescue.

The Hilbert fire department extinguished the blaze which was caused by a gasoline lamp. The flames had swept through the ceiling and the front stairway to the living quarters of the Leiby family.

The fire was put under control as soon as the department arrived. The damage has not been estimated.

estimated total for the state is now 41 million pounds as compared with about 49 million last year with the same acreage. The plants are generally somewhat small with relatively fewer leaves. The leaves, however, are quite heavy and contain a great deal of gum.

Air mail service has been inaugurated between Cape Town, Port Elizabeth, Johannesburg and Durban, South Africa.

Farmers Urged To Join Drive To Increase Profits

32 LEADING DAIRYMEN AT MEETING HERE

Discuss Plans for Series of Gatherings from Nov. 4 to 9

Dairy farmers of Outagamie-co were urged in a resolution adopted by a conference of leading farmers here yesterday to participate in the campaign from Nov. 4 to 9 in an effort to increase the profits of dairy-men.

Thirty-two representative dairy-men gathered at the courthouse Monday morning under the direction of Gus Sell, county agent, and discussed Mr. Sell's plans for the drive.

More testing, better feeding, and use of proven sires are the three points which will be stressed. The farmers, in open forum session, agreed that by adopting the use of these regulations farmers could make their cattle earn more money.

Testing is the foundation which is necessary to produce greater profits, the farmers said. If a farmer tests his cattle he will learn just how to feed them to properly raise a production cost and he also will learn which of the cattle are to be used in breeding.

"There now are three testing associations in the county," Mr. Sell said. "These have a total membership of 181 herds while there are about 2,700 herds of."

Mr. Sell's plan of holding between 40 and 50 meetings throughout the county from Nov. 4 to 9 was endorsed by the conference. From two to four meetings will be held in every township in an effort to reach every dairy farmer in the county.

These meetings there will be held by experts from the state agricultural college and county agents from nearby counties. Among the speakers will be men who have successfully adopted the methods which they will advocate.

Meetings will be held in barns, school houses, town halls and wherever meeting space is available. A series of meetings will be held each day for the five days and in this drive the objective will be to double the number of herds in the testing associations.

The schedule of meetings is to be arranged within the next week by Mr. Sell.

Following its discussion, of the drive the conference turned its attention to cooperative marketing and adopted a resolution urging farmers of the county to make a serious effort toward more cooperative marketing. The effect of cooperative is especially important to dairy farmers, it was brought out, and Mr. Sell was asked to arrange for a marketing institute in the county within the next few months.

Following the morning session the farmers were entertained at dinner by the Appleton Lions' club and heard an address by K. L. Hatch, director of agricultural extension with the University of Wisconsin.

"The problem of relief for the Badger dairymen lies not in beneficial legislation, creation of farm boards or a high tariff," Mr. Hatch declared, "but in a modern and practical solution of the farm problems by the farmer himself."

Mr. Hatch pointed out that all successful businesses were built up by the owners' own personal application to their problems and that the use of this method is the only way in which the farmer can pull himself from the hole he is in.

The problem of the dairy farmer is not so much to increase the amount of milk his herds are producing but to produce this milk at a lower cost and with greater efficiency, the university men said.

The right manner in which to do this is to test the cattle, eliminate poor producers which lower the average of the entire herd and raise the cost of production, breed with proven sires, and use modern feeding methods, he pointed out.

A cow producing 150 pounds of milk does so at $2.75 per hundred; one producing 200 pounds; does so at $2.25 per hundred; while a 400-pound cow produces at $1.60 per hundred, Mr. Hatch claimed.

"Thus it can be seen that the more milk a cow produces the less it costs for production and the importance of lowering production costs and thereby increasing profits is plain," Mr. Hatch said.

The only way in which a farmer can determine what it costs him to produce milk is to belong to a testing association.

Appleton, as a city, Mr. Hatch pointed out, is interested in this drive for greater profits for dairymen because it means the farmers will have more money to spend in the city. Mr. Hatch said that it is up to the city to cooperate with the farmers.

"Of 3,600 farm homes in Outagamie-co only 400 or 500 are equipped with electricity," Mr. Hatch said. "A great deal of the blame for this low percentage rests on the city because it did not make it commercially possible for the farmer to equip his home with these necessities. Helping the farmer to become financially able to secure modern home comforts and putting these comforts within the reach of every farmer is one of the duties of the city."

W. W. Clark, an assistant state county agricultural leader, also gave in short address in which he stressed the importance of dairy herd improvement work.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bab, daughter Helen Jean and Mrs. B. L. Smok have returned from Dayton, O., where they visited relatives.

VACUUM TUBE FOR RADIO INVENTED BY T. A. EDISON

Credit Belongs to America's Inventive Wizard, Says Commissioner

BY ROBERT MACK
Copyright, 1929, by Cons. Press
Washington—To Thomas A. Edison, America's inventive wizard, whose name seldom has been associated with radio, belongs the credit for the invention of the radio vacuum tube, the very heart of reception today and an instrument which is invading new fields with miraculous results.

This is the opinion of former federal radio Commissioner O. H. Cauley, himself an engineer of repute. It was Edison, he says, who many days before the radio tube came into use developed the "electron tube" and discovered what now is known as the "Edison effect." This, he declares is one of Edison's greatest but least known contributions to the world.

Speaking Monday before a joint group of engineering societies at Pittsburgh, Mr. Cauley extolled the part Edison has played in radio's conquest. It was in 1880 when Edison was experimenting with the incandescent electric lamp that he inadvertently discovered another new phenomenon taking place inside his evacuated bulbs—a phenomenon which Mr. Cauley points out, today, is the very cornerstone of radio.

And although Edison actually found the use of the Edison effect, the aged inventor himself paved the way for it, according to Mr. Cauley. And as a result of Edison's pioneering the vacuum tube is becoming a utilitarian in many phases of arts and industry and its history reads like a fairy tale.

75 MILLION USED
"The home radio set is the most familiar user of this pioneer contribution by the Wizard of Menlo Park, for today probably 75 million tubes are in use in American homes," Mr. Cauley asserted. "Tubes similar in principle are employed in the broadcasting stations. Modern radio transmitters on ships and in shore stations depend upon vacuum tubes. Long distance telephone conversations are stepped up, from point to point, by vacuum tubes. The talking movies take effect because of that same Edison effect. Airplanes and ships are guided through fog and avoid obstructions to navigation by the aid of vacuum tubes. Picture transmission uses the sensitive relay of the vacuum bombardment which so puzzled the great inventor back in 1880. An television would be impossible without the tubes as amplifiers. And now a host of new uses for the vacuum tube are coming to the front. We are getting a new family of musical instruments sweeter in tone and more than any conceivable brass or wood wind combination—ones that are simply the amplified harmonies of the tiny electrons in vacuum. Our street radio is controlled by vacuum relays that literally set a car approaching and set crossing signals accordingly. We can count its monthly earnings in dollars and cents and we can automatically select and grade cigars or fruits by color using vacuum tubes. Tubes comprise our most sensitive meters. Our elevators are today leveled at each floor by the warning eye of a blind vacuum tube machine. Tubes serve as burglar alarms; they also act as detectives in questioning criminals, even enabling the inquisitors to discover whether the suspect is telling the truth, by measuring the unconscious reaction of his heart beats and involuntary sweat-glands should he attempt to deceive."

Landlord must pay damages to tenants

Jury Awards Verdict to Defendants in House Rental Suit

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Zuleger, Seymour, defendants in a suit for $231.39 damages brought by Robert J. Doersch, Seymour, were awarded $40 damages on a counterclaim by the jury in the upper branch of municipal court yesterday afternoon.

The Zulegers had rented a house from Doersch and the latter claimed that while they lived in the house they caused damage estimated at $200 and that they still owed him $131.39 rent. The Zulegers filed a counterclaim charging that they were ordered from Zuleger's house and that when they moved they had taken along two tons of coal which they had stored for winter use. The Zulegers also charged that when Doersch refused to have the furnace in the house repaired they were forced to purchase a stove to keep warm. They denied they damaged Doersch's house when they left.

The case opened before Judge Theodore Berg Monday morning and was set for the jury at 5 o'clock. In less than an hour the jurors returned a verdict for the defendants.

MORE EXPERTS ARE SEEN FOR CRIME BOARD

Law Enforcement Commission Divides Work Into Six Chief Divisions

Washington—(AP)—A review of the progress and problems of the law enforcement commission was made by President Hoover—national law enforcement lawlessness and the conditions which it produces—today drew the chief executive's law enforcement commission into session at its headquarters here.

Although the object of the meeting, which is expected to continue for several days, was disclosed in only a general way, there were intimations that before reaching an adjournment, the commission might take action regarding the selection of additional experts to deal with specific phases of crime.

As yet, it has to engage expert assistance for its inquiry into the delicate subject of prohibition and into five other divisions of its survey as well.

FIVE OTHER CLASSES

These are juvenile delinquency, lawlessness among enforcement officers, probation, paroles and prisons, experts have already been selected to gather information on the volume of crime, its causes, police, prosecution, federal courts and the foreign-born criminal.

The greatest of care is being exercised in the selection of experts and great difficulty has been encountered in discovering individuals who reached the standard set by the commission and yet were free to accept appointments. Some have been unable to drop work upon which they were already engaged.

All members of the commission except Judge William S. Kenyon were here for the meeting, the largest number that has yet attended a session of the group since regular monthly gatherings became a regular part of the commission's program.

ment company of Chicago, had conferred with him. Koch replied he did not recall this although he had talked with some officers of that company.

None of the cement importers had called on him, Koch said, and he thought they were negligent in not doing so as the investigation of cement related only to the cost of production.

The witness testified none of the other importers ever entered his office or visited him, after a tariff hearing at which he appeared. Koch said, he called upon Walker at his room in a Washington hotel. Some other importers were there.

"Did you discuss rates at dinner?" asked Robinson.

"Yes, importers always discuss rates. They are very interested in them."

Chairman Thomas O. Marvin of the commission, was the next witness. He said when appointed in 1921 he was secretary of the Home Market club, an organization interested in the protective tariff.

His duties with the club, Marvin related, included publication of a magazine and organization work.

"What was the purpose of explaining protection, to get duties higher or lower?" inquired Chairman Caraway.

"It was to maintain the protective tariff policy."

"To sell protection?"

"Yes."

Marvin said the club had no political interests and although he had appeared before congressional committees at the time the 1913 tariff bill was up he had to discuss the "principle of protection."

Marvin added he was now an honorary member of the club but not active.

TEXT OF LETTER

The letter from Wylie to President Hoover, asserted that Koch was reliably informed that Koch "has been doing everything he possibly can in connection with the recent hearings on the earthenware schedule, to help the importers and especially the Japanese."

The letter continued, "when a man of this type should hold such an important position, and who, instead of serving his country, who pays him his salary, he instead devotes his time and effort against the best interests of the government, the domestic pottery industry and labor."

The communication added "it looks to me that Mr. Koch should be checked up and dismissed from the service."

Marvin added he believed the commission should look into the complaints against Koch.

Hogan said the remarks made in the senate "obviously were to impress the court and jury."

Government counsel then started introducing telegrams showing Sinclair and his counsel, J. W. Zevly in 1921 had asked permission to visit Fall in New Mexico and that he replied that he would be glad to see them. This was followed with other communications concerning the Sinclair deal.

The defense noted an exception as each communication and document bearing on the Fall-Sinclair transactions went into the record.

THRIFTY CABBAGE CROP IN COUNTY, INSPECTORS FIND

Yield Will Be Much Better Than Estimated Last Summer

BY W. F. WINSEY

A number of cabbage fields of Outagamie-co were inspected last week by Phil Bixby and Matt Schaefer, president and secretary-treasurer, respectively, of the Appleton Cabbage Growers' association, assisted by County Agent Gustav Sell. The inspection was made over a wide area to determine the quality of the cabbage grown from various kinds of seed distributed last spring by the association, and also where the best heads might be obtained for the production of the next crop of seed for the growers of the association.

The inspection showed that all the cabbage grown from the various types of seed distributed was very thrifty, despite the worms and dry weather, and is promising larger yields than were expected earlier in the season.

In short time Mr. Bixby and Mr. Schaefer each to select a dozen or more heads from the best fields in the county, and later are to select six or more heads from the pile and to send them to a seed grower on the Pacific coast, who raises the seed for the Appleton cabbage growers.

Some of the fields that were carefully inspected were a 10 acre field of Mr. Bixby, a 10 acre field of W. M. Schrader, Greenville, a 10 acre field of Rhinold Puls, Greenville, and a 125 acre field of Edward Knoke, Shiocton. A large number of other fields in the county were given a less thorough inspection on account of a lack of time.

STAND NEARLY PERFECT
Mr. Bixby has a very nearly perfect stand of cabbage in his field. The plants were not badly damaged by worms, and the heads are all of uniform size, somewhat smaller than other years, and as firm and hard as bullets. He now estimates his yield at eight tons per acre but two weeks more of growing weather would materially increase the estimate. That his seed was pure is shown in the crop.

W. F. Schroeder, Greenville, has a fine field of cabbage, but, here and there, some mixture of the seed is evident. His stand is almost perfect and the heads are uniform, and of large size for this season. He estimates his yield at one-half of that of last year which appeared to the inspectors to be very conservative. His yield last year was 17 tons per acre which is difficult to duplicate this fall. He is likely to get an average of 12 tons to the acre which is very high and unusual for this fall. He is now cutting his cabbage and storing it on the farm in a building with a capacity of 180 tons.

Rhinold Puls' 10 acre field was one of the best visited by the inspectors. The stand is perfect, the heads are unusually large and firm, and shows very little damage of worms. To control worms, Mr. Puls sprayed his field. To produce his crop, he gave his field two coats of manure last fall and two more last spring. After each coat last fall he plowed the field, but this spring he worked the two coats with the soil by disking. This treatment of the field gave him an outstanding yield of cabbage, and the effect will be noticeable in crops following for several years. Mr. Puls is now cutting his crop.

The 125 acre cabbage, and the 40 acre cauliflower fields of Edward Knoke, Shiocton, proved to be a strong attraction for the inspectors. In the cabbage field it was easy to

GAZI TELLS WORLD HE IS RIGHT HUSKY

Suzukere, Turkey —(AP)— Keeping up his reputation for sudden midnight speeches, Ghazi Mustapha Kemal has again taken Turkey by the ears with an address to a crowd which waited until the small hours to see him emerge from a party in this upper Bosphorus suburb of Constantinople.

The speech, made from a balcony of the villa where he was entertained, was a command for the world at large to stop whispering that he was in bad health.

"You can see for yourselves that I am strong and well," he said. "Go and tell the nation that the man who has consecrated his life to its welfare, is husky."

"My strength is in my affection for you and your affection for me. This nation shall yet be the most honored on earth and until I behold that consummation with my own eyes, I shall not die."

AMERICAN JINGOISM

As was to be expected, the big navy and anti-peace crowd in the United States have used their best endeavors to discredit Ramsay MacDonald's visit to the United States and his conversations with President Hoover. They have tried to make it appear that MacDonald sought an alliance and that the understanding between the heads of the two governments is in fact of this character. They have pretended to read into the joint statement issued by MacDonald and Hoover a commitment by the United States to use its military power against a nation making war and particularly a violator of the Kellogg pact. They are busy with arithmetic and statistics to prove that the parity of naval strength between Great Britain and the United States which MacDonald has approved without reservations is impossible and cannot be relied upon. This, notwithstanding they know nothing about the basis of agreement between Hoover and MacDonald and the methods they propose to employ to bring about parity.

The comments and propaganda published by the big navy newspapers in disrespect of the plain statements and pledges of the two executives, not to add defiance of their purposes and aims, is a striking picture of disreputable and nefarious jingoism at its worst. This attempt to embarrass or destroy the sincere efforts of the two great nations of the world to cast the future in terms of peace and security must prove repulsive and obnoxious to all right-thinking Americans. The things that are being said about foreigners and their nations by some of the newspapers of the United States are unpardonable. They represent purely a design to arouse international hatreds and prejudices. Whether they are the product of ignorance or maliciousness matters little. The results are the same in either case and are equally atrocious. Mr. MacDonald and Mr. Hoover are entitled to the goodwill, confidence and support of all the people of Great Britain and the United States, and of the world so far as that goes, in their great undertaking, at least until their definite proposals are submitted for judgment. Certainly, their motives are not to be questioned.

THE WORLD BASEBALL CHAMPIONS

The World Series has ended as the public generally expected it would. The odds always favored the Athletics. Competent observers of the two leagues have maintained all along that the Philadelphia team was superior. In addition to a great pitching staff, which the Cubs lacked, it turns out that the American Leaguers also have hitters that made the much advertised talent of their opponents look like a one-cent postage stamp. In every department of the game the Athletics excelled. In fact, they so far out-classed the Cubs as to make the latter look like bush leaguers. That seventh inning batting orgy of the Athletics in the fourth game will always be the subject of pleasantries in baseball history.

The inference from the series is as in the past, that a better brand of ball is played in the American than in the national league. We think the results will be popular with fans throughout the country. Most things owned by and pertaining to Chicago are too much boasted. It likes to lord it over other cities and is contemptuous of things non-Chicagoan. It's a good thing for a city with as poor an excuse for vanity as Chicago to be humbled often. It needs to be reduced to its proper place in American life and the sorry exhibition of its baseball team in the World series, small although it may be, contributes to that end.

FALL'S PLAY FOR SYMPATHY

Mr. Fall, sunk in the deep cushions of an arm chair, swathed in flannels, mufflers and jackets, visibly suffering from bronchial pneumonia and purposely endangering his life by his unnecessary presence in court, is a spectacular appeal to public sympathy. This dramatic play of his lawyers may cost him his life, but the question that really matters is whether they will get away with it before the jury. Mr. Fall it should be borne in mind was not compelled to go to trial; he was dragged into court by his own attorneys. The spectacle has the same melodramatic color of those suffering great grief or experiencing emotions and situations that ought to be kept private posing for the camera man.

Every person of course feels sorry for Albert B. Fall, the sick man. But that circumstance can have no relation to the public's opinion of Albert B. Fall, the conspirator and bribe taker. Through the delays and tactics of his lawyers he may succeed in obtaining a "vindication" in the hands of a misguided jury. Doheny and Sinclair were as fortunate, and so was Fall in a previous case. But what happened in those cases and what happens in the trial of Fall now in progress cannot alter the fact that all three are black with guilt. Fall was bribed by both Sinclair and Doheny and the three conspired to rob the people of the United States of their oil reserves. These facts have been provided beyond the possibility of doubt and the proof affirmed by the supreme court of the United States. Tricky and treacherous attorneys often succeed in getting wealthy clients out of the clutches of the law. They were able to do it with Sinclair and Doheny and the probability is they will succeed with Fall. But the ostensible innocence they establish is fraudulent and a rank miscarriage of justice.

ANOTHER PROBLEM

The court decision to the effect that the buyer of liquor is innocent, when the man who sold it to him is guilty, has certainly started something. A Texas senator wants another prohibition enforcement law making the two parties equally culpable and punishable. Strong dry organizations support this demand. But there is opposition in unexpected quarters, on unexpected grounds. Senator Norris, chairman of the Senate judiciary committee, points out that such legislation would interfere seriously with dry enforcement. In 95 per cent of prosecutions, he says, the testimony of buyers is relied on for the conviction of sellers. The buyers naturally would object to giving testimony if it incriminated themselves.

So the prohibition problem continues to go around and around, without reaching any decisive solution. A decade of experience has not clarified it either morally or legally.

Possibly after this disarmament business is disposed of, the nation can take up the liquor question anew and do something about it more definite and conclusive, in one way or another.

BACK TO AN OLD TRADITION

It is extremely interesting to read that the United States Lines are planning to build two huge new ocean liners, each of them larger than the Leviathan. What makes it interesting chiefly is the fact that these big ships will be built in America and will fly the American flag.

Before the Civil War American ship builders and owners were in the forefront of the ocean transportation field. The speedy clippers turned out at New York and Boston were as good as any afloat, and were extremely good investments.

Then our ocean commerce dwindled; and it has been many years since any large-scale building for the trans-Atlantic trade has been done in this country. The present move of the United States Lines is merely a return to the old tradition.

Small airplanes recently exhibited at the English Aero Show, and costing $1,700 each, are capable of maintaining a speed of 55 miles an hour over long distances. They carry only one man.

Brown coal contains so much moisture that it cannot be shipped long distances in cold countries unless it freezes.

So long as meals are limited to three a day, it is almost impossible to over-feed a child of school age.

Every year the English post office department receives many more applications for posts as telephone operators than there are vacancies.

Lord Coventry, who is 97 years old, has been an English peer for 36 years. He succeeded to his title when he was five.

The weather was so hot in Washington, D. C., recently, that horses collapsed in the street and eggs were fried on the hot pavements.

Dromedaries can perform a journey of 300 miles in five days.

Seen And Heard In New York

BY RICHARD MASCOCK
New York.—The entertaining testimony in the senate's investigation of William B. Shearer sent a number of New Yorkers to look up "dossiers." They learned that it's a French word, pronounced as though written "do-say" and meaning "a collection of memoranda and documents relating to some matter, as a lawyer's dossier of a case in court."

But a great many New Yorkers don't bother with a dictionary. Instead they telephone Frank H. Vitzelety, the telegrapher.

BIG WORD MAN
Vitzelety has grown grey giving out the fund of knowledge stored in his head, or filed away within easy reach. The crossword puzzle addicts are his most frequent callers, seeking words to fit the squares and definitions.

Others want him to settle arguments. An unidentified stranger telephoned the other day about that famous old quip word "Schneetady." Apparently he knew how to spell it. But shouldn't it be pronounced without the "k"? "Schneetady?" Vitzelety advised him that it shouldn't.

Dossier, for example, dates back to the fifth century, when it seems to have meant a lounge. Because people exchanged confidences while seated together on a lounge, it came to mean a cover for pertinent data, or as the French so wittily say, a "chénisse."

The English took it over about 1875 and Scotland Yard found it useful as a designation for a bundle of papers in reference to some matter. In the country of origin, every schoolboy is supposed to know what a dossier is. It's the cover in which he keeps his exercise books and papers.

STATISTICAL
An idle fellow with more time than money has looked through the Manhattan telephone directory and found the almanac well represented.

There are, he points out, 17 Marches, 14 Aprils, 150 Mays, two Junes, two Julys, nine Augusts and six Novembers, all the names of individuals. And there's a Janvier, which is January in Paris.

Exploring further, he found 80 Winters, 22 Springs, six Summers and no Autumns, but three Falls. The Winters including three who are locally prominent—Benjamin, realtor; Keyes, lawyer and republican leader, and Ezra, mural painter.

The Moons number 15, the Suns 17 (of whom 14 are Chinese). There is only one Star. The week has three Mondays and Fridays and a pair of Sundays. Of the latter, one is the Rev. William F. Sunday, who sometimes receives mail intended for the more noted divine, William A. Sunday. Unrelated, they have met only once, at Asbury Park, N. J.

Today's Anniversary

CZAR BANS ALCOHOL

On Oct. 15, 1914, the Czar of Russia prohibited forever the sale of spiritous liquors—chiefly vodka.

Three months before, all wine, beer and vodka shops had been closed as a temporary measure, in view of the order for mobilization of land and sea forces of the empire.

The people made use of the occasion, and demanded the prohibition of the sale of alcohol for the whole duration of the war, and if possible, forever.

Early in September of 1914, the council of ministers announced that his imperial majesty had decided to prohibit the sale of spirits and vodka until the end of the war.

The Czar announced on Oct. 15 that he had decided to prohibit forever the sale of spiritous liquors. These orders, however, did not apply to malt liquor and wines.

Local governing bodies were allowed to petition for a complete prohibition of the sale of all alcoholic beverages within the limits of their jurisdiction.

Petrograd restricted the sale of wine to 40 first-class hotels and restaurants and only permitted liquor to be sold with meals. The city of Moscow adopted complete prohibition of all intoxicants.

Personal Health Talks

Noted Physician and Author

Dr. Brady will answer all signed letters pertaining to health. Writer's names are never printed. Requests for diagnosis or treatment of individual cases cannot be considered. Address Dr. William Brady, in care of this paper.

ROBBING ASTHMATICS OF THEIR PILLOWS

It does seem like taking candy away from the baby when the doctor insists on depriving the asthmatic victim of the pillow, especially when the patient is able to lie down and sleep. Nevertheless this is precisely what must be done in certain cases of asthma if the patient hopes to enjoy lasting relief. Not that the comfort of a pillow or any number of pillows desired is bad for asthma. It is the stuff pillows are made of that puts the wheeze in certain cases of asthma.

With the exception of a dwindling proportion of the population that still likes being humbugged, people subject to asthma generally know today that the condition is, like hives, caused by a peculiar individual sensitivity to some protein substance that gets into the blood through some avenue other than normal digestion.

To indicate this peculiar condition, which gives rise to spasmodic bronchial asthma in some cases, to hives in other cases, to sudden and mysterious digestive disturbances readily assumed to be "ptomaine poisoning" in other cases, to hyperesthetic rhinitis in other cases, to giant hives (angioneurotic edema) in other cases, and sometimes perhaps to persistent or recurring outbreaks of eczema, there are several names unfamiliar to the laity but in common usage among physicians. One name is anaphylaxis, the attack being called an anaphylactic reaction; anaphylactic is the opposite of the familiar word prophylactic; prophylactic is preventive or protective—the medical advisors of our dictionary makers are a bit old fashioned and hadn't heard of anaphylactic when they submitted definitions of prophylactic; or maybe they are just optimistic. Another term for anaphylaxis is allergy; another is hypersusceptibility; another is atopy. The condition is of great importance because it is a fundamental part of immunity.

There are many legends of queer persons who get all fussed up and distressed if they enter a room where there is, say, a cat, even though they do not see the cat. Of course these sensitive souls are actually sensitized to cat hair or dander, and probably suffer an anaphylactic reaction from inhaling a minute quantity of it on entering the environment of the animal. The source of such manifestation may be a dog, a parrot, a canary, a horse—if you keep a horse in your living-room—or almost any household pet except goldfish.

Long before we learned that the nature of spasmodic bronchial asthma is always anaphylactic, it was common knowledge that certain sufferers had attacks when they came into close contact with feathers, particularly the feathers of geese. With less strain on the scientific foundations than the fiction writers usually require, one might steal Eden Philpott's "Mystery of the Gray Room" and select as occupants only anaphylactic subjects, and still have a first class yarn. Wonderful opportunity for the medically trained detective to discover indications of anaphylactic sensitivity in the proposed victims and even to put his theory to a test without giving away the solution until the proper moment.

Feather and down pillows became suspects long since; hair mattresses or upholstery was later condemned, in certain cases; now Dr. Grafton T. Brown finds that even knopk fiber (sometimes inaccurately called "silk floss") is responsible for asthma in not a few cases. It begins to look as though we shall have to restrict asthma patients to air pillows.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Hernia in Infant

Would a rupture in a newborn boy be due to the mother's lifting or straining before his birth, or could it be from any fault of the doctor (a specialist) or nurse in attendance at the baby's birth. (Mrs. F. W. K.)

Answer.—Certainly not. Rupture (hernia, breech) is a developmental defect or weakness which happens in a considerable share of all cases regardless of the circumstances you mention. Nobody knows just why it happens, any more than we know just why the baby is as likely to be a mere child as a boy.

Weak Eyes
Please give in your column a formula for bathing weak eyes, and let us know whether bathing the eyes will do any good for nearsightedness or farsightedness. (M. S. J.)

Answer.—If by weak eyes you mean impaired vision, no benefit is obtainable from an eye wash. But if you mean congestion, redness or mild chronic inflammation of the eyes, medicaments applied in drops or eyewashes are sometimes helpful. Your physician should prescribe something suitable for the particular trouble. For chronic inflammation of the lining of the eyelids this solution is often good:

Boric acid ..... 10 grains
Zinc Sulphate ..... 1 grain
Borated water ..... 1 ounce
One drop in eye night and morning.

Calomel
Please let me know of what benefit calomel is, and whether it should be used for constipation. (Mrs. M. M.)

Answer.—Calomel is valuable in the treatment of certain disease conditions, but I do not think it should be taken merely as a physic.

Tomatoes
Are tomatoes good for anyone with Bright's disease? One doctor says they won't do any harm. (A. D. S.)

Answer.—As a rule tomatoes may be eaten freely by one with Bright's disease.

SIZE OF INDIVIDUALS

HOLDS CONSTANT LEVEL

New York.—(AP)—Both oversized and shrimpy sized individuals may hope for return of the family stature propensities to normal size within three generations.

The research which so indicates was described to the American Association for the Advancement of Science here today by Dr. Edward F. Adolph of the University of Rochester.

"In an age when fashion dictates that one should be so big," he said, "people would like to know just how big adult individuals are to be. The best way to find out is to study very small organisms."

For the tests he used single cell animals known as protozoan colopoda. He found that the large individuals grow large almost as quickly as the small ones reach adult size, although the largest are three times the bulk of the smallest.

"Big individuals," he said, "usually came from big parents, but only two or three generations were required to change back to average sizes, though meanwhile a few courtesies might become large or small apparently at random."

Refining the principle that controls size as "some internal clock," he said: "While one can change the pendulum in this clock that dictates the age and size of the race, one cannot yet describe the wheels and the main springs that run it."

WHO'S THE CHIEF?

Kerser, W. Va.—A strange predicament arose in this town when the mayor appointed a police chief and then the city council reappointed another. Both laid claim to the office and each jangles the streets unkindly of the other. The outcome will be learned when the payroll is made out as only one will be paid.

A BYSTANDER IN WASHINGTON

BY HERBERT PLUMMER
Washington.—A rather retiring sort of fellow, somewhat short of stature and with closely-cropped light hair, is keeping his ears wide open during all this navy talk heard around Washington.

He's not saying very much, although he is in a position to speak with a great deal of authority. Nor has he done much thus far.

But eventually he will. After the hubbub of conversation has died away and a definite course of procedure has been mapped out, his time will come.

This man is Senator Freddy Hale of Maine, chairman of the senate committee which all this Shearer business and Hoover-MacDonald discussion find their way at last.

And it is Freddy Hale and his committee who will decide just what ought to be done.

The name Hale has been one of power in national politics for almost a half century.

The present senator is the son of one of the most powerful men ever to hold a seat in the United States senate. For 30 years Eugene Hale represented the state of Maine in the national lawmaking body. His grandfather, too, on the maternal side was a senator, as well as secretary of the interior.

A LAWYER

Early the son was picked to succeed his father in politics. After being graduated from Harvard he attended the Columbia university law school for a year, but quit to enter his uncle's law office in Portland to prepare himself for the bar.

He was associated with his uncle for a time in a law firm, and upon his death succeeded to his practice. Senator Hale's first venture into politics was in 1905 when he was chosen to serve in the Maine legislature. It was not until 1916 that he came to the United States senate.

His career in the senate has been regularly Republican with progressive leanings at times. He made a single-handed fight to have fertilizer removed from tariff duty and won. Three months after the armistice was signed in 1918, in a speech in the senate, he demanded immediate withdrawal of American troops from Europe on the grounds that their presence there might lead to difficulty.

He cast his vote for the eighteenth amendment. He also voted for women's suffrage.

LIKES FISHING

Senator Hale is a bachelor and is 55 years old. He plays golf for recreation when he is in Washington, but back in Maine his great love for outdoor sports comes first. Camping and fishing are favorite means of diversion to him.

Rarely does he speak on the floor of the senate on anything except the navy and its needs. He has made the navy the one big thing of his career as a senator. He has been chairman of the naval affairs committee since the beginning of his second term in 1922.

Senator Hale believes that "a powerful American navy is the strongest factor for peace in the world. During the last session of congress, over powerful opposition, he succeeded in getting passed the bill providing for 15 additional cruisers. And over the opposition of Coolidge and the views of Hoover, then president-elect, he succeeded in having retained in the bill the time limit for construction clause.

Just what his attitude will be toward President Hoover's views on limitation or armament is a matter of conjecture. His stand in the past is well known.

STUDY FOREST FIRES

St. Paul.—Dr. Raphael Zon, director of the Lake States Forest Experiment Station at the University of Minnesota, has announced his intention of studying forest fires by starting some of them and watching their work of destruction. He plans to use a tract of several sections near Roscommon, Mich. The tract will be isolated by a 300 foot fire line.

FLASHES FROM HOLLYWOOD

BY BOBBIN COONS
Hollywood.—A few of the day's sights, sounds, and other things:

Blue-uniformed waitresses in a studio commissary chattering gaily as they pack box lunches after the noon rush, indicating some company is going on location.

Alice Day strolling to her set with a Hawaiian lei about her neck, pleased there by her mother and sisters when they surprised her by returning unexpectedly from a vacation in the islands.... Gary Cooper baggaged and worn after an all-night session with camera and "mike," leaving the studio at 5 a. m.

Ruth Taylor of "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes" fame making a movie comeback after a brief sojourn on the stage.... She's in "This Thing Called Love" with Constance Bennett and Edmund Lowe.

A collection of pre-prohibition liquor bottles from the prop-room, all genuine, drawing exclamations from set visitors.

PAID FUN

Extras enjoying the singing and dancing of a Broadway star and getting paid for it.... Few of them could afford the price of a mere look-in in his native haunts back-east.... The marvelous ease with which an entire movie company relaxes and "forgets" momentarily scenes on a sound stage.... And the remarkable snap with which they swing back into character and tense quiet when the director commands....

Add similes: as clean as a surf-washed pebble—or a movie actor's pocketbook on the return jaunt from Mexican gaming resorts.... Jane Winton in one of those tulle-backed evening gowns.... mostly tulle.... Chorus girls in a musical revue whose sun-tanned limbs are not tanned high enough to "match" the modern chorus girl costume....

HE WEARS NO SMOCK!

Although now modeling for a studio, Mahonri Young, noted sculptor, is not a movie fan. He seldom goes to a show, and he has seen but one talkie, that months ago. He prefers prize fights, and spends much of his leisure time sketching the trainees in a downtown arena. In their workouts the sparring pairs and rope-skippers give him ever fresh lessons in rhythm, movement and stance, his cultural obsessions.

Young works not feverishly but leisurely, and yet in 10 weeks here he has completed 17 pieces. He has not professionally "arty" pose as he labors in old trousers and shirt (no smock) and he applies his clay as cheerfully, to all appearances, as though he were a grocer perfunctorily measuring out a dime's worth of beans.

The art is, where it belongs, in the finished piece.

GERMAN YOUTH IS CIRCLING GLOBE IN TINY AIRPLANE

21-year-old Boy Pauses in Texas on Trip Around the World

Dallas, Tex. — A 21-year-old boy and a wee "mosquito" airplane that weighs only 550 pounds when fully loaded are pausing in Dallas for a few days in the midst of a remarkable flight around the world.

The boy is Baron F. K. Koenig Warthausen of Berlin, who left his home 13 months ago on a pleasure flight and liked it so well that he hasn't been home since.

His plane is a two-cylinder, 20-horsepower Mercedes-Benz of the glider type, unbelievably small and unbelievably safe. It costs $1,800 in Germany, has a maximum speed of 70 miles an hour, will travel 50 miles on a gallon of gasoline and has an incredibly slow landing speed.

FLEW ACROSS ORIENT
Just at present the baron and the plane are pausing. Landing on a dark and muddy field at Sweetwater, Tex., the other day, the baron cracked up and damaged a wing. Unable to fix it there, he put the little plane on a truck and brought it to Dallas for repairs. In a few days he will take off again.

Baron Warthausen had had just 17 hours of solo flying, when he began his world tour. From Berlin he flew to Moscow. Thence he followed the nose through the orient, by way of Baku, Calcutta, Burma, Bangkok, Singapore, Hongkong, Shanghai, Kobe, Tokyo, and Yokohama. At the latter city he put his plane on a liner and came to the United States, de-arriving at San Francisco. From San Francisco he came down through the southwest in easy stages.

INJURED—IN AUTO CRASH
In all of this flying in his tiny plane Warthausen has only had one mishap, aside from the affair at Sweetwater. That was at El Paso a couple of months ago, when a taxi-cab in which he was riding from the airport to a hotel hit another car and threw him through the windshield. His face was badly cut, and he spent six weeks in a hospital.

Now he is eager to get back home. "I only planned to be gone for a year," he says. "I'd have made it easy if it hadn't been for damages, and I may have to go back to El Paso for the hearing. I think I have something coming to me—my hospital and doctor bills were $1,500."

From here Baron Warthausen plans to fly to Tulsa, St. Louis, Chicago, Detroit, Cleveland, Pittsburgh, Washington and New York. He thought some of attempting a transatlantic flight, but finally reconsidered and decided to cross "like a sane person," as he says—by ocean liner to Cherbourg, from which point he will fly to his home in Berlin. He carries with him a letter to Henry Ford, whom he is very anxious to meet.

CAT IS MASCOT
His companion on his trip thus far has been a blooded Siamese cat, given him by the King of Siam. In El Paso he added two more passengers—a pair of Texas horned toads, otherwise he carries no cargo, except for a huge can of castor oil. This, however, is for the engine. "It is the ideal lubricant for a small motor," he says. "And it can be bought in any place in the world." His trip has been devoid of any narrow escapes or spectacular thrills. Only once was he nervous. That was when he soared over 500 miles of unhabited jungle in southern Asia. He admitted that thoughts of a forced landing kept coming into his head while he was on that flight, but nothing happened and he got through in safety.

GETS LATE START
London—Sir Horace Plunkett, Irish statesman, thinks he'll never be too old to learn new tricks. At the age of 75, he has just taken to airplane flying. Experts have said that 35 is the extreme age limit for an airman. But Sir Horace only says "Bosh!"

Talks To Parents

HIS BROTHER'S FOOTSTEPS

By Alice Judson Peale

"Larry certainly is lucky. Think of his going away to the same school in which his brother already has spent a year and done so well by the family name. Larry will be popular without half trying. He'll be invited to join everything and everybody will be expecting the best of him. It's fine to have a reputation to live up to. All he has to do is to follow in his brother's footsteps."

Thus spoke a family friend over the tea cups. But Larry's mother, with some of that intuition so generously attributed to all mothers, was not so sure that Larry was lucky.

She knew that her younger boy was quite different from his brother. If, indeed, he should find himself popular, it would be for reasons wholly different from those which had won the elder boy his leadership.

Also she understood quite well that although there was a very real affection between the boys, there was also a current of antagonism, which, if Larry proved unhappy in the school situation, might readily produce a whole crop of quarrels and hard feelings.

Brothers are born rivals and it is tempting providence to throw them into situations which emphasize the personal equation. It is not wise to send away to school together brothers so nearly the same age that comparisons are inevitable.

Personal tension is likely to develop and the powers of one or the other are bound to be handicapped in their expression. No boy should feel that he is expected to follow in his brother's footsteps. He should feel free to choose his own direction.

MARKETING SPECIALIST TAKES NEW POSITION

Montgomery, for several years industrial marketing specialist for the state department of markets has left the re-organized department of agriculture and markets for a more lucrative position in Washington, D. C., with the American Wholesale Grocers' association. He was the departmental specialist in matters concerning fraudulent advertising and unfair trade practices. His new work will be along the same lines, in connection with a forthcoming court case or legislative maneuvers by the wholesalers.

CANAL PROJECT ON OHIO RIVER WILL LINK VAST AREA

President to Dedicate Big System With Address by Radio

Cincinnati—The $118,000,000 Ohio river federal canalization project, opening a new gateway to commerce and transporting millions of tons of freight yearly on its winding 1000-mile waterway trail and which links the industrial districts of the east with the agricultural districts of the Mississippi valley, is at last completed.

On Oct. 22, President Hoover will formally dedicate this gigantic engineering work, which, by means of 50 movable dams, has made possible a minimum stage of nine feet of water all the way from Pittsburgh to Cairo, Ill., where the Ohio meets the broad Mississippi.

Putting along the picturesque Ohio today are 500 steam, oil and gasoline propelled towboats and several thousand barges, carrying coal to feed the roaring blast furnaces in the Pittsburgh district; transporting iron, steel and other commodities to markets near and far—serving a territory greater in extent than Germany, and the home of 15,000,000 people.

Completion of this vast canalization project, called by engineers the greatest example of dam and lock construction in the world, constitutes an important step in the federal government's plan to utilize the nation's waterways on a far more extensive scale.

PAGEANT TO MARK OPENING

A river pageant starting Oct. 11 at Pittsburgh, with a historical display of the progress of navigation and appropriate addresses, will begin the program for celebrating the completion of the canal project.

One of the finest packet boats ever operated on the Ohio, the steamer Cincinnati, known as the "Queen of the Western Waters," will be the flagship of the fleet which will travel from Pittsburgh to Cairo where the Ohio empties into the Mississippi.

President Hoover will accompany the fleet on at least a part of its voyage. He will go aboard the flagship at Cincinnati, Oct. 22, for a trip down the Ohio, past three dams, to Louisville, where the new $10,000,000, navigation-power dam will be inspected. While there, Hoover will make a radio address from a steamboat on the subject of waterways, according to tentative plans.

RIVER RETURNING TO GLORY

Once in its glory as a main artery of transportation, the closing years of the 19th century saw river-borne tonnage decline to a minimum along the Ohio. Increasing competition by the railroads was responsible.

The puffing river steamers so familiar along its route went into the discard; wharves rotted away and river travel almost passed out of the picture.

Eventually the federal government decided something should be done to reclaim the river as an artery of commerce. The huge canalization project was started with its object a series of 50 dams and locks, which, by a system of clever engineering throughout the 1000-mile stage, will maintain a nine-foot water stage.

The first dam was completed about

Where River Links Farms With Factories

This sketch-map gives an idea of the magnitude of the $118,000,000 Ohio river canalization project, which provides cheap transportation of commodities to and from points along the 1000-mile route from Pittsburgh to the Mississippi and beyond. It opens a new gateway to commerce between the coal and iron districts and the agricultural sections in the midwest and south. At the upper left is shown a towboat with its fleet of barges. President Hoover and the steamed Cincinnati, which will carry him from Cincinnati to Louisville Oct. 22, are shown below. Mr. Hoover will make a radio address from the steamboat.

20 years ago. Each year saw others built. The turning point was reached in traffic on the water highway in 1923 and 10,000,000 tons of freight were moved in that year.

Since then the tonnage has more than doubled. 20,938,267 tons of freight having been moved last year. Short hauls, in the main, constitute river traffic.

IRON STEEL NOW MOVED
There were 1,413,216 tons of iron and steel moved on the river last year and a basic tonnage of about 400,000 tons moved the entire length of the Ohio and beyond. This is the principal commodity moving any distance.

Sand and gravel carried last year amounted to 12,389,034 tons, but it was only hauled a short distance. The total coal was 9,166,766 tons, most of which was moved in the Pittsburgh district.

The vast territory drained by the Ohio produces 55 per cent of the bituminous coal mined in the United States. Vast natural wealth—hence stone, fireclay, oil and gas deposits, fluorspar, timber, sand and gravel lie within its reach.

Shorting little towboats, no bigger than any one of the 18 or 20 heavily laden barges they haul, handle 18,000 to 20,000-ton loads with apparent ease—tonnage equal to five or ten railroad train loads.

River traffic enthusiasts say these fleets need only combination of rail-river rates and more modern rail-river terminals to develop the river to its fullest usefulness and a source of economy to other sections of the United States. Through the Ohio and Mississippi these water routes reach from Pittsburgh to New Orleans. A federal barge line is already operating on the Mississippi.

This will be brought to the attention of President Hoover and his official party when he visits Cincinnati and Louisville. Besides federal officials, representatives of all the states served by the Ohio river will attend the celebration.

(Washington Bureau of the Post-Crescent)

Washington—Wisconsin is one of the 20 states requiring Federal licenses for all aircraft and airmen. The territory of Alaska also requires Federal licenses for all aircraft and airmen.

Ten states require Federal licenses for aircraft and airmen engaged in commercial flying, six require other state or Federal licenses for all aircraft and airmen, and six require state licenses for all aircraft and airmen. The other nine states—Alabama, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Nevada, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Tennessee, and Utah, do not as yet require any licenses whatever.

The Aeronautics Branch of the Department of Commerce is now preparing for publication a draft of state aeronautical legislation and compilation of state laws—with abstracts and verbatim copies of all regulatory state laws pertaining to aeronautics, and in addition, abstracts of the regulatory portion of

This publication will be available at an early date and may be had upon application to the Aeronautics branch.

TEAGUE REPLIES TO SENATE CRITICS OF FEDERAL FARM BODY

Says Board Must Make Exhaustive Inquiries Before Taking Action

Columbus, Ohio—(AP)—C. C. Teague of the federal farm board, today quoted two paragraphs of the farm relief law as an answer to the criticisms of some members of the senate agriculture committee that the board was functioning too slowly.

While investigating the fitness of the board's members to hold their positions, he said in an address prepared for delivery before a meeting of the United States Chamber of Commerce, members of the committee openly criticized the board for not having acted more promptly in the control of surpluses by advancing money to stabilization corporations and for not having loaned a large portion of the funds at its disposal.

The passages of the farm act to which he pointed set forth that stabilization corporations receiving financial assistance from the government "shall exert every reasonable effort to avoid losses and to secure profits," and prohibited loans when the board might consider them likely to increase unduly the production of a commodity in which there was already a surplus.

To conform to these provisions, he continued, the board must make exhaustive inquiries relative to the responsibility of the stabilization corporations in question before a loan can be made and also with respect to surplus conditions in the commodity which it might represent.

He asserted that all this took time and administrative machinery could not be set up in a few days. He listed as important steps in this direction, the retention of Thomas Elliot to establish a financial organization for the board and of George E. Farrand to set up a legal department. In the same category he placed the transfer of the bureau of agricultural economics from the jurisdiction of the department of agriculture to that of the board.

Teague entered a plea for a better understanding of the problems of agriculture by the business men of the country.

"Agriculture and business are closely related," he said. "Agriculture being a basic industry, the prosperity of the country is largely dependent upon the prosperity of agriculture. Agriculture is also dependent upon the prosperity of business; for unless business is prosperous and a large portion of the labor of the country is employed at fair wages, agriculture cannot find a market at good prices for its products."

TWO BRITISH PRINCES SEE GIANT DIRIGIBLE

London—(AP)—The Prince of Wales and his brother Prince George yesterday, it became known today, went in airplanes appropriated for their use to meet the dirigible R-101 making its trial voyage.

The British heir was in a Gypsy moth piloted by E. Fielden, while Prince George was in his elder brother's old blue moth, piloted by Squadron Leader Don.

Both took off shortly after noon from Sunningdale, Berkshire, and toured the home counties in search of the dirigible. They finally found it and after circling it and viewing it from the air both returned to Northolt, Middlesex.

"INCOMPARABLE, THAT'S WHAT I SAY OF KONJOLA"

Lady Freed of Three Ailments, Pays Grateful Tribute to New Medicine.

MRS. MARY RUSSELL

"For years I suffered from indigestion," said Mrs. Mary Russell, 223 West Fifteenth street, Sioux City, Iowa. "Food never digested and formed a heavy mass in the pit of my stomach. I was constipated and subject to sick headaches. My kidneys became weakened and brought on back pains and prevented me from sleeping soundly at night."

"Konjola was recommended and I decided to give it a trial. It went to work without hesitation. The poisons were eliminated; my organs were regulated and I gained strength, energy and vigor. Day by day I improved. In a few weeks my digestion had been restored; my kidneys were strengthened and today I can hardly believe I am the same person. To Konjola goes all the credit and I praise it highly."

Konjola is sold in Appleton at Schlitz Bros. Drug Store and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

NEW SPORTS SUIT INCLUDES TROUSERS

Garment Resembles Pair of Shorts Several Sizes Too Large

BY AILEEN LAMONT (Copyright, 1929, by Cons. Press)

New York—Well, there's something new in trousers; that is to say for women. From speckled tweed, Amy Linker of Paris has made a sports suit with a normal short coat but with a skirt that is nothing more than trousers. In fact, rather more than less because each trouser leg, ending a few inches below the knee, is at least half a foot wider than the leg of the wearer. Though comfortable, this trouser-skirt resembles a pair of "shorts" several sizes too big; except in back, where the trousers are covered by a discreetly feminine panel.

Gloves in green, yellow, blue, pink and other pastel tints are now on hand for evening wear. They reach almost to the elbow, and are of the crush or wrinkle variety. Suede is in vogue both for evening and daytime. A favorite daytime glove is of the semi-mousquetaire type in six button length, although it may fasten with only one clasp. Some shops in New York are showing gloves to match not only stockings but also hats and handbags, for never have gloves been a more vital portion of the ensemble.

Among the many and varied bracelets with which women's arms are bedecked these days is one for bridge parties. Made of leather strips in different colors, braided together, it has as ornament a pair of pendants in the form of playing cards. Among the amusing and beautiful "scenic" brooches is a tiny facsimile in brilliant of the twocadero at Paris with a glittering green-glistening tree at one side, while another brooch reproduces a little pavilion of love at Versailles.

Superior police arrested 32 persons in raids here over the weekend.

Milwaukee—(AP)—Padlocks have been snapped on five Wisconsin liquor establishments, according to notice returns on file today in the federal marshal's office. The places include the Soo Line hotel bar, Shawano; saloon near Pearson, Mr. and Mrs. John Stengle and T. J. Suick, defendants; saloon near Lily, Vincent Dazinski, proprietor; saloon in the village of Morgan, Max and Elsie Tolsey, proprietors.

Chippewa Falls—(AP)—A hit-and-run driver who killed Alvin Chamberlain, 40, inmate of the Northern state Colony and Training school, was sought today. Chamberlain, formerly a resident of Oxford, Marquette-co, was a trusty, and had the privilege of going and coming at will around the grounds.

Chippewa Falls—(AP)—On a plea of not guilty, Martin Anderson, bartender at a downtown hotel, the Market Inn, today paid a fine of $75 and costs on charge of violating the new city dry ordinance.

Pardeeville—(AP)—Injured in an automobile accident Sunday near South Leeds, Kenneth Morgan, 23, Pardeeville, died late Monday. His companion, Harold Halverson 27, Rio was killed in the crash.

Milwaukee—(AP)—Charged with the slaying of his mother-in-law, Charles Schmidt, 51, was held today on a second degree murder charge. Police assert that he attacked the woman, Mrs. Barbara Wichinski, 54, while intoxicated.

Kenosha—(AP)—Today marks the fourth anniversary of the still unsolved Sears-Latimer murder which in its day was the sensation of Wisconsin. The bodies of Madalynne Latimer, Milwaukee stenographer, and Jimmy Sears, Kenosha garage owner, were found on a lonely road just north of Kenosha. Both had been shot to death.

BELOIT POST CHAPLAIN SCORES COLONEL M'NUTT

Beloit—(AP)—A sermon of the Rev. George E. Stickney, Congregational minister and chaplain of the Beloit American legion post, gave Beloit a fertile topic for conversation today. He launched on an attack on the legion national convention and its former commander, Col. Paul V. McNutt.

The pastor criticized the convention resolution against peace lobbying by the American Federal Council of Churches. He also rapped Col. McNutt for his letter to President Hoover against temporary suspension of the cruiser building program.

The pastor questioned whether patriotic organizations engaged in black list activities and "big navy" propaganda represent the attitude of the majority of the people.

"If these organizations," he said, "do not represent the feeling of all, let us who differ speak out."

RUBBER GROWERS WOULD INCREASE COST OF PRODUCT

Propose to Remove 45,000 Tons of Crude Material from Market

BY J. C. ROYLE (Copyright, 1929, by Cons. Press)

New York—Miles reeled off under the treads of pneumatic tires have an excellent chance of costing operators of motor vehicles more money in coming months. Producers of crude rubber are making strenuous efforts to advance the price of their product. If they are successful, it will mean an increase in the cost of tires, with a consequent advance in prices for consumers.

European rubber producers will meet in Amsterdam on Oct. 22, to discuss the formation of an international rubber growers' association which will have for its object the advancing of prices that producers receive, in view of an anticipated shortage in world supplies in 1930. The meeting has been called at the instance of the committee formed a year and a half ago to promote Dutch rubber interests. All the concerns operated by English, French and Dutch capital have been invited to send representatives.

The plan to be discussed, according to reports reaching rubber men in this country, involves the removal from the present market of 45,000 tons of crude, which would be placed in storage. This amount would make up for the anticipated shortage in 1930 and would be placed under control of a central selling agency under control of the European interests, which would market it at prices to be fixed later.

At present stocks of crude in storage in London and in Singapore are heavy. But estimated world production in 1930 is placed at only 520,000 tons.

WOULD CUT SUPPLY

The American Tire industry alone consumes more than 300,000 tons and the withdrawal of 45,000 tons of crude from the market means cutting down the amount available by supplies for a month and a half. It would mean the removal from the market of a surplus which has tended to keep manufacturers from buying in advance, since they could take their time and wait for possible lower prices.

Domestic rubber men see in the proposed Amsterdam plan an effort to get a minimum level through which the price of crude rubber shall not break. It is pointed out that the reserve of 45,000 tons could be increased at any time supplies became greater than demand warranted. The Dutch committee asserts emphatically that the scheme is not directed against American consumers but is intended to secure continuity of rubber production through stabilization of prices to producers at a level which will insure profits.

The committee points out that all producers would be permitted to join in there serve selling organization and would have complete freedom in marketing their products beyond the tonnage included in the reserve. These statements have not brought much comfort to tire producers and other rubber consumers. They see a much difference between this plan and the Stevenson plan, under which shipments of crude grown in the Straits settlements and other British East Indian possessions were restricted by government order. In the Dutch plan, restriction would be by voluntary agreement of producers.

The Stevenson plan was not successful and was abandoned on Nov. 1, 1928. Whether the Dutch plan is successful or not, it does not change the fact, according to consumers, that production in 1929 will be about 520,000 tons and in 1930 amount to expected in 1930. World consumption at the start of 1928 was figured at 790,000 tons but demand increased 36 per cent in 1929. Allowing an increase of only 8 per cent in 1930, requirements would total 850,000 tons, involving a shortage of 330,000 tons.

Poland is to have a new chain of grain elevators which will cost $15,000,000.

BIG TENNERS WORK TOWARD IMPROVED TEAMS FOR WEEKEND

Kipke Threatens Shakeup at Michigan; Illini Preps for Iowa

BY WILLIAM A. WEEKES Associated Press Sports Writer
CHICAGO—(AP)—There will be a lot of improvement in Michigan football affairs before Saturday—or several players who started against Purdue last Saturday will have choice sideline seats from which to watch the Wolverines in action against its ancient foe, Ohio State.

Thoroughly discouraged with the performance of his team, which received one of the worst beatings from Purdue that a Michigan aggregation ever has suffered, Coach Harry Kipke has decreed that all hands will play the best they know how or turn in their uniforms. He outlined a practice program, including two scrimmages and long sessions in blocking, to be accomplished before Saturday when Ohio State goes to Ann Arbor to engage Michigan for the twenty-sixth time. The first of the scrimmages was set for today.

Purdue came through the contest with no serious injuries and started planning for the Chicago game two weeks away. The Boilermakers will meet De Pauw Saturday. Regulars of all Big Ten teams except Wisconsin and Illinois, were let off with light work yesterday but were to get back into harness today.

Illinois' first two teams scrimmaged against the third team and failed to impress Coach Zuppke with their ability to cope with Iowa formations.

Coach Ingwersen is trying to put a scoring punch into the Hawkeyes, but has been forced to revise his plans for the Illinois game. He had figured heavily on the return of Captain Willis Glassgow. To the Iowa backfield but learned yesterday that an injury will prevent his playing.

Ohio State's problem was the development of a stronger attack to shoot at Michigan. Indiana has been put on a diet of fundamentals, following its defeat at Chicago.

Minnesota and Northwestern, which meet at Evanston, in one of Saturday's outstanding games, faced a week of long, vigorous drills. The Gophers will be out to square accounts for an unexpected defeat administered by the Wildcats last season, while Northwestern, encouraged by its victory over Wisconsin, will battle to the limit to retain its chance for the Big Ten title.

Chicago has a doubleheader on Saturday with Ripon and Indiana normal as the opposition, but Coach Stagg has an eye on Oct. 26 when his Maroons meet Purdue.

COACHES EYE YOUNGER

Two coaches are watching with interest the work of a youth who is trying for a backfield position on New York University's football team this fall. The two coaches are Staff, and Jack Connor, and the backfield candidate is their younger brother, Vic.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

When Rogers Hornsby took over the captain's duties on the Cub team after Charlie Grimm was injured he found that his pay had been increased when he got his first check. He took the check to Bill Veeck, offering to turn the increase back to Charlie. "Give it to Grimm. I'm glad to help out," said the "trouble-maker." But Veeck advised him to keep it, as Grimm wasn't docked. The new signal for football officials to let the fans know what's going on were advertised for the Notre Dame-Indiana game, but the only signal the officials used was the wave of the arms over the head when Carideo kicked two goals after touchdown. Mickey Walker is getting heavier and his said he has trouble making less than 154 pounds without losing strength.

Just like her dad, she is "Pat" to every member of the Chicago team, except Rogers Hornsby, who always calls her "Mrs. Hornsby." The youngster is a great favorite with the Cubs and is on speaking terms with many players of other National League teams. Since she was a tiny baby she has traveled over the league circuit with her parents.

WILSON WAS CUB'S LEADING BATTER

Athletics Batted .281 in Series and the Cubs Hit Only .235

Philadelphia—(AP)—Hack Wilson, considered by many the goat of the world series, was the leading slugger in the matches just concluded between the Athletics and Chicago Cubs.

Wilson, the center fielder, who lost three flies in the burning rays of the sun on Saturday which ruined the moral of the National league champions, batted .471, far surpassing every other player. He made eight hits in 17 trips to the plate, seven singles and a triple.

For the Athletics, third baseman Jimmy Dykes, the handy man of Connie Mack's ensemble was the star. Jimmy batted .421 and many here consider him the luminary of the series, although the fans can never forget the thrill that Howard Ehmke's pitching gave them in that first game.

Nearly all the sluggers were up to par, with the exception of Rogers Hornsby who batted only .238. Hazen Cuyler hit .300 and Stephenson batted .316.

Catcher Mickey Cochrane of the A's swatted at .400 clip and Al Simmons hit an even .300. The A's batted .281 in the series and the Cubs .235.

Singer Impressive In Showing Against Zazzarino

Copyright, 1929 BY JOHN J. ROMANO
NEW YORK—Al Singer has arrived. He proved his greatness in not only stopping Young Zazzarino, the Jersey Meteor, in the sixth round of their battle last week but in the way in which he played the game in Zazzarino's own style, slugging, and taking the murderous blows to the body without flinching.

Ever since the night Singer rolled into the canvas holding his grain and making grimaces, when Bud Taylor sank one into the waistline, there has been a tendency to doubt Singer's gameness.

Zazzarino went out in the sixth round but there is no doubt as to his punching ability. A wild left swing to the body is one of the best blows Zazzarino uses and he caught Al with plenty of them. The local jewel took them without wincing and punished his opponent severely with ripping uppercuts.

Singer was too smart for Zazzarino. The bull-like rushes of the Jersey batter were just made to order for the sharp-shooting Singer. Every time Zazzarino pivoted and shot his right or left, Singer stepped in and uppercut with zest.

The lads set a terrific pace, with Zazzarino fighting like a wild man. He was out to keep his boasts that he would fight Singer off his feet. He tried manfully enough and gave a remarkable exhibition of courage and gameness after getting up off the floor in the third round.

Knocked down for a count of nine in the sixth, Zazzarino spread-eagled his feet and attempted to take the shower of blows Singer rained on him. As Singer backed away the referee figured he had enough. The finish was just as dramatic as the fight itself. Zazzarino refused to be stopped and tried to tear after Singer. The referee stopped him and took a blow on his jaw for his trouble. Zazzarino was kept back. The thing that quieted him was a call to talk over the radio.

Zazzarino is long on chin music and he forgot all about his exasperation to speak a few words. One thing about Zazzarino, he fights like he talks, wild and woolly.

Howard Madden, Milwaukee, attending Lawrence college his first year and rated one of the best footballers to show up at the Viking institution in many a season returned to the Lawrence campus Sunday after spending several weeks in a Milwaukee hospital as the result of a football injury.

Madden had been playing with the yearlings as a half back and suffered an injury that stumped local doctors. He went to his home in Milwaukee where specialists discovered that a severed nerve in his leg was causing him the trouble, a tightening of his leg muscles which produced almost unbearable pain. He now is relieved a bit but wears a special shoe designed to aid the nerve heal. If the shoe fails to accomplish its work an operation may be necessary to correct the injury.

WOMEN SHOULD LEARN USES OF MAGNESIA

To women who suffer from nausea, or so-called "morning sickness," this simple measure is proving a blessing. Most nurses know it and it is advised by leading specialists.

Prepare a small quantity of finely cracked ice—about a wineglassful. Pour over it a teaspoonful of Phillips Milk of Magnesia. Stir slowly until the mixture is gone or you are entirely relieved. It is seldom necessary to repeat the dose to end sick stomach or any inclination to vomit.

Its anti-acid properties enable Phillips Milk of Magnesia to give immediate relief in heartburn, sour stomach, gas, its mild, but effective laxative action assures regular bowel movement. Used as a mouthwash it helps prevent acid erosion and tooth decay during expectancy.

With every bottle of Phillips Milk of Magnesia, come full directions for its many uses. All drug stores have the 25c and 50c sizes. Demand the genuine, endorsed by doctors for over 50 years.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of the Chas. H. Phillips Chemical Co. and its predecessor, Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

CHAPTER 21
CAPTURE

Cousin John attempted no more speeches of thanks. He had no purse and borrowed my loose cash, a few pounds.

"That's a debt I'll repay," Mr. Grenofen, he said. "But I can't repay you for Woodcut. I want your mother to accept this as a little souvenir from me."

And he took out of his pocket a little golden cross outlined in rubies and peppered over with small diamonds.

I recoiled before it. An angry expression came into his eye.

"What d'you mean?" he began.

"Take it!" cried Veronica, peremptorily.

I looked her in the eyes. Then I took it with a word of thanks.

Veronica stopped the engine altogether and we glided alongside a steep sandbank several feet above the water.

Cousin John took off his shoes and socks and turned the trousers up to his knees. He steadied himself on my shoulder, stepped on the side of the sandbank and dug in his feet.

"Goodby, little Veronica," said he. "Nonsense!" cried Veronica. "Au revoir, Dick. My love to Mina."

"Au revoir, Cousin John," said I. He plowed up to the summit of the bank and went over.

"Get out on the crowling and hold her to the bank by the bow, Tom," said Veronica; "she'll swing.... That's it. And yo, heave ho!" for Blackwater Bay or thereabouts.

Fiftiper's stern was swung round by the tide until she pointed seaward again. Veronica restarted her engine and we moved back along the buoyed lane to the open sea.

In the bay of St. Michel-en-Greve the water was dead flat in spite of the fast tide. Veronica proclaimed herself as hungry as a starved dog. I crouched under the cowl and set about providing her with breakfast.

Now past four o'clock. We could not get home before seven. I wondered whether Fiftiper would have been missed. How we should explain ourselves to Royle. How, if called upon to account for my absence from Woodcut that night, I should do it.

But before any of these difficulties became actual there was another and an unexpected one to surmount—and that not further than the end of the lane.

An exclamation from Veronica made me look up from the little stove and the copper kettle.

"Look there!" said Veronica.

I stood to look through the screen. A long, black vessel with two fat short funnels lay motionless straight ahead.

"D'you think—"

"That means to have a few words with us? Oh, yes, no doubt about that. See his signal?"

I could not read the flags, but Veronica knew them. We were requested to heave to?" I asked.

"What say? Shall we? Or pretend not to know anything about signals and just show him our heels?"

I did not know much about the laws of the sea. But I expected it was bad form not to stop when a long, ugly warship asked you to do so.

"A naval boat, isn't she?"

"Yes," said Veronica. "French destroyer—coast patrol from Cherbourg, or maybe Brest. We're doing no harm, and if we were it's no affair of his. What say? Are you game?"

It was a rather unfair question: I could scarcely refuse to be game for anything if Veronica was game for it.

Then began the exciting match over five miles between Fiftiper (owner, A. Royle; captain, V. Seabroke) and L'Anguille (owner, the French Republic; captain, Lieutenant F. des Pallaux).

The conditions of the contest were peculiar. The destroyer could not come within five miles of the shore, whereas Fiftiper, had the whole bay open to her on the rising tide.

Veronica, with her eyes shining, took a sharp turn to port, headed for the point at the western extremity of the bay, and opened out. Fiftiper began to move—25, 30, and quickly up to forty. We sank into the groove we cut, and the destroyer, now on our starboard beam, perhaps two miles away, was invisible because of the wave we raised.

But she did not let us forget her existence. There came over the water the loud shrieking of her siren. Veronica slowed down to take a look at her.

Clouds of black smoke poured from her funnels and the white flag at her foremast showed that she moved quickly on a course parallel to ours, and across the arc of the bay.

"What a lark!" cried Veronica. "He's in a shocking bad temper! I suppose 25's his top speed. We shall fetch the point with miles to spare. Wish we had a siren: we'd play duets with him!"

Fiftiper's engine roared again and she settled by the stern till her rival was once more invisible. Veronica, shedding water from her hat, face, and olskin, chuckled:

"Great, isn't it?"

Fiftiper was running at 50 and the sound of the siren weakened.

"Now he'll see our heels!" said Veronica.

But he was not done with. I leaped to my feet at the concussion of a gun. Even Veronica looked startled.

But she said, "He really is in a temper, isn't he?" and pushed the throttle wide open.

Fiftiper took another knot or two, but that was as much as she could do.

Veronica and I jumped nervously again; the gun boomed a second time, and over the ocean a shot dropped into the sea 300 or 400 yards ahead of us. Veronica throttled down at once.

"Anyhow, I didn't guess he was going to be as nasty as that!" she completed her remark.

Fast as Fiftiper was, projectiles were faster. The argument was over. We admitted that the conversation would have to take place.

TOURISTS IN BRITAIN SPEND $125,000,000

London.—(AP)—Tourists eager to see Westminster abbey and go punting on the Thames left more money in England this summer than Great Britain's share in the German reparations payments for a whole year.

During the five months ending September 1, travel agency officials estimate, visitors from abroad spent approximately $125,000,000 in the British Isles.

That is $10,000,000 more than Great Britain's enlarged annual share of the Young plan reparations payments as agreed on at the Hague after Philip Snowden's sensational battle for a new deal.

Visitors from Europe and the British dominions accounted for only 20 per cent of the tourist crop; the rest were Americans.

AMERICAN LABOR TURNS ATTENTION TO INJUNCTIONS

Other Large Events, Including Talk by M'Donald, Due This Week

BY CHESTER M. WRIGHT
Copyright, 1929, by Cons. Press
Toronto—Entering the second and final week of its annual convention, the American federation of labor looks forward to a series of events large in importance.

After several declarations Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald have reconsidered, will speak to the convention on Wednesday. The reception to the prime minister will be some indication of the attitude American labor will take henceforth toward the movement which he heads and the backing which may be expected to give his ideas as they effect world relations.

The injunction question, leading all others in importance here, so far as domestic issues are concerned, will be up for action. It is planned to outline a campaign to win favor in congress as soon as the convention has ratified its draft of an anti injunction measure. The draft ready for presentation here will not be adopted without debate, but it is assured of victory by a large margin.

A larger effort to organize mass production industries will doubtless be planned. Deep analysis of the situation is predicted by leaders. It has been stated that little progress has been made in organization work in that great field and a search will be made for methods more likely to bring success.

TO RESUME DEFENSE

Early in the week president Green expects to resume the defense of the federation against attacks which he characterizes as coming from "the so-called progressives and liberals." It is denied that the federation feels these attacks which have accused the federation of failure in almost every direction. It is pointed out that the federation is in reality between two fires and that this cannot be avoided. "But we must make our own policies," President Green declares. "On what may be called the fighting front, labor also will during the week survey the Washington tariff situation in a meeting of the tariff group of organizations which are supported by the federation as a whole. Vice President Matthew Wolf forecasts the making of plans for the balance of the congressional fight, with possibly an adjournment to Washington so that there may be immediate contact with congressmen.

Practically no important business has yet been transacted, since committee reports had not been formulated at the weekend adjournment. This leaves all the international relations to be acted upon. These include support of the senate foreign relations committee investigation of Cuban affairs, relations with Germany, Latin American immigration and the fact of the wool proposal for the tariff. With the international federation of trade unions through the American American federation of labor. The southern textile situation remains for action with the probability of a decision favoring a southern conference and a general call to all unions to help in a great campaign to out unionism solidly into the mill owners on a basis of collective bargaining and with a possibility of an offer to throw engineering help into the situation to assist the industry.

JAPANESE MICE TO REPLACE CANARIES AS GAS DETECTORS

Washington—(AP)—Japanese waiting mice probably will soon replace the canaries that are always carried on the 11 rescue cars and circulated through the United States and Alaska by the United States Bureau of Mines.

The canaries have heretofore been carried, along with surgical and food supplies, oxygen apparatus, and gas instruments, because they have been the best known detectors of the deadly carbon monoxide gas fatal in the home garage as well as in the coal mine.

But the department of commerce announced today the results of comparative tests at the Pittsburgh Experiment station of the Bureau of Mines in which it was found that the Japanese waiting mice reacted to carbon monoxide more quickly than canaries.

Officials of the bureau said that substitution of the mice for the birds in the rescue cars would naturally follow.

Guinea pigs were found unsuitable for detection of the gas. They survived amounts of monoxide which would cause unconsciousness in a man doing moderate work.

50 PASS EXAMS FOR CONSERVATION WARDENS

Madison—(AP)—Fifty men passed the recent civil service examination for deputy conservation wardens out of 185 who made application. Of the 50 successful candidates, only 18 passed for the regular conservation warden position and 32 were marked satisfactory on the list for supervising wardens for rough fish work.

"The examination for deputy conservation warden is one of the comprehensive given by the bureau of personnel," said Col. A. E. Carey, director.

"A knowledge of the subject of conservation and law enforcement is absolutely essential to secure a passing grade and any man who can make a good mark on the four-part examination is thoroughly acquainted with the subject of conservation."

Wisconsin's system of examination is attracting attention throughout the country. Many other state conservation departments, notably Michigan and California, have inquired about the examination with the view to introducing similar ones.

GORMAN ABSOLVES OUSTED HEAD OF CHICAGO SCHOOLS

Makes Public Apology of Part Played in "Battle Against King"

BY OWEN L. SCOTT
Copyright, 1929, by Cons. Press
Chicago—The last feeble echoes of Chicago's historic battle against King George, now are to die out, unless the object of Mayor "Big Bill" Thompson's attack, William McDermott, ousted superintendent of schools, should take an opportunity to thrust home a cruel legal blow.

All at once the King and his ministers, along with the people of this country, have had opened to them a full view of some of this city's unique political methods. They now discover that the general who led the attack to keep "the king's snout out of American affairs"—former Congressman John J. Gorman—didn't even know what he was fighting about.

His admission and public apology, revealing that he had not even read the history text book, the use of which was declared to brand the superintendent of schools as a "stool pigeon of the king" has thrown added light on the situation. The statement took him out from under a $100,000 libel suit, but it may open the way to further attack by the school superintendent who suffered as a result of the fight.

While all this is going on, U. J. "Sport" Hegmann, local sportsman and theater owner, who was to build a bonfire on Chicago's lake front to burn all books in the public library having an English complexion, finds himself in an interesting position.

He has just become president of the Chicago library board and the English books still are uncovered and unremoved on the shelves. As a matter of fact, Mr. Herrmann's blast had such political repercussions that he and Mayor Thompson were cool to one another for some time following the bonfire suggestion.

Out of it all, Superintendent McAndrew was left holding the bag. He was forced out of office on an admittedly trumped up issue. The man who waged the fight against him now says that he had not even read the book upon which much of the attack was based. Even he found himself stranded when the counter-attack started. Politicians who had promised to help defend the libel suit that grew up, failed to put up the slightest financial front.

In commenting upon the situation, the Chicago Tribune Monday says editorially:

"The first requirement of the scheme was the removal of the able and conscientious educator who was superintendent of schools. In a trial of incredible nonsense his position was to be taken from him and his means of livelihood were to be injured or destroyed. The general reputation which he enjoyed as an educator was to be tarnished if possible by charges reflecting upon his patriotism and his honor and with him out of the way spoils politics would be free to do its worst with the educational system of the city."

"In part the plot, for all its unbeatable clowning, succeeded. Chicago gained a name for lunacy and lost a distinguished superintendent of schools. He lost a position to which he would have been glad to contribute his usefulness. The schools got a lot of new scandals."

Out of all this has come an end to the political attacks directed against school historians—always with the object of benefitting politically from the racial prejudices aroused.

PASSENGER TRAIN UNLOADS LUMBER TRUCK AT CROSSING

Ferdinand Ulrich, a Hilbert carter, has found a fast way of unloading lumber from trucks, but he doesn't advocate the practice from a standpoint of safety.

While returning to his home in Hilbert, he crossed the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific railroad crossing early Saturday afternoon, failing to notice an approaching passenger train due to arrive at Hilbert at 1:45 in the afternoon.

He stepped on the gas and managed to get the truck over the crossing, but not until the engine had lifted the entire load of lumber from the rear of the truck and tossed it along the road. The truck was not damaged.

MARKET RECOVERS AFTER UTILITIES START LOWER MOVE

Railroad Shares Lead Upward Swing; Believe Bull Advance Ended

BY STANLEY W. FRENCH, Associated Press Financial Editor

New York (AP)—Renewal of selling pressure against the public utilities and some of the industrial leaders temporarily unsettled today's stock market, but the decline was checked by the resumption of large scale buying operations in the railroad shares. Early selling was based primarily on the speculative belief that the market, which had recovered more than half the ground lost in the decline early this month, was due for a secondary reaction.

Call money advanced to 6 per cent, and was advanced to 7 in reflection of heavy mid-month demands and the withdrawal of government funds on deposit in federal reserve member banks. Time money also displayed a slightly firmer undertone.

The drive against the public utilities was influenced largely by the recent decision of the Massachusetts public utility commission denying the Edison Electric Illuminating Co. of Boston permission to split up its capital stock. American Telephone and Telegraph, American Water Works, North American Pacific Lighting, Consolidated Gas and Standard Gas & Electric were all hammered down to nearly 6 points.

Motor shares turned heavy on reports of decreasing output and sales of several of the leading manufacturers, but some of these are attributed to the introduction of new models. Auburn auto broke 13 points and several others declined a point or two.

Western Union recovered all of its early loss of 9 points in the early afternoon rally and Johns Manville quickly made up 7 points of its 8 point morning decline. U. S. Steel Common dropped from an early high of 22 1/2 to 22 3/4 and then rebounded as Wall Street began to hear rumors of a special distribution to shareholders before the end of the year.

New Haven Common assumed the leadership of the railroad group by moving up 3 points to a new high record at 132 1/2. The preferred advanced 3 1/4 points to a new high at 134 3/4. New York Central, Atchafalaya, Baltimore & Ohio, Norfolk & Western and Northern Pacific sold 2 to 3 1/2 points higher.

Timken Roller Bearing ran up 7 1/2 points to a new high at 135 on buying influenced by the recent expansion of the company's business into new fields, particularly railroad equipment. National Biscuit, Simmons, Industrial Rayon and Hershey Chocolates also were well bought.

A downward trend was in evidence in the late trading in sympathy with renewed weakness in U. S. Steel, which declined to around 22 3/4. Anchor Cap., however, was advanced to a new high at 80. The closing tone was heavy. Total sales approximately 3,200,000 shares.

SWINE TRADE SLOW WITH WEAK PRICES

Sellers Refuse to Take Offerings 10 and 15 Cents Below Yesterday

Chicago (AP)—Hog trading opened slowly as sellers refused to meet the demands of the packers that prices be knocked off 10 to 15¢ from yesterday's average. Only a few early sales were completed, but those showed that the tone was weak. Choice 150 to 210 lbs. weights sold off at 9.90 to 10.00, and there was nothing done above that figure. Packers had 2,500 hogs out of the run for today.

Lighter weights continued to be in good demand in the early trade this morning. With the ending of the Jewish holidays the demand for heavy hogs to supply the kosher demand is picking up and shippers provided some activity in the class. All others were slow to get under way. Young hogs continued in good demand and ranked with the light steers as the leaders of the market. There were about 10,000 western grassers in the run, mostly of feeders quality.

Sheep were steady at the start of today's trade after a weak session yesterday. Fat natives were not quite so anxiously picked up as they were last week, as the supply is way ahead of the same time last week. There have been 12,000 more of all classes than last Tuesday.

WHEAT PRICES TURN UPWARD AS DEMAND GROWS AT MARKETS

Rally at Liverpool Helps Chicago Bull Traders to Make Gains

BY JOHN P. BROUGHAN, Associated Press Market Editor

Chicago (AP)—Wheat values turned gradually upward today, helped by somewhat broader speculative demand in which houses with eastern connections took the lead. More or less stimulus for friends of higher prices came from a sharp closing rally in wheat quotations at Liverpool after an early break there. Besides, a late estimate of the Argentine wheat exportable surplus indicated only 18,000,000 bushels left, instead of 56,000,000 bushels as first reported today.

Uncertainty of the Argentine wheat crop were emphasized today by frost reports from Cordoba and Buenos Aires provinces, and by unfavorable field advices also from Bahia and Santa Fe district. On the other hand, Liverpool stocks of wheat were increasing and were predicted to continue doing so for several weeks yet. One estimate current today put the present remaining Argentine exportable wheat surplus from last year's crop as high as 56,000,000 bushels.

Illustrating the critical situation which has arisen from unusual scarcities of European buying of North American wheat, official figures were cited today showing that Canadian wheat export for September amounted to only 9,997,000 bu. against 21,976,000 bu. a year ago. Overnight export demand was described as continuing slack, but as arduous traders today in wheat future deliveries were more optimistic than of the time the price was selling side of the market. Bearish news being quite generally regarded as having been fully allowed for.

Corn was easy early with all deliveries selling at a new low for the season, but the market rallied on short covering and a fair class of buyers to above yesterday's finish, with the upturn checked by selling against offers. The cash basis was steady to 1-2¢ higher, with fairly liberal shipping sales. Charters were made for 160,000 bu. of corn to go from Chicago to Europe, and the market was generally favorable for harvesting the new crop, and cribbing was under way in Kansas to some extent. Fairly liberal feeding of new corn was reported in that state. Oats firmed with other grains.

Provisions averaged lower, influenced by packers selling and by downturns in the value of hogs.

WEAKNESS HITS STOCKS ON CURB

Slight Raise in Money Rates Gives Impetus to Downward Move

New York (AP)—The curb market developed emphatic weakness, particularly in the utility division, today. There was little in the days news to influence the market, although a rise in the call loan rate to 7 per cent was somewhat disappointing, bearing out bankers' predictions that the recent ease was due largely to temporary factors.

The extreme pressure against the utilities was regarded as a belated response by this market to the Massachusetts public service department's denial of the application of Edison Electric of Boston to split up its stock. The ruling inferred that the stock was strictly inflated and in view of the high ratio in which most electric power stocks are selling as compared to earnings, fears were aroused that it may have far reaching effects.

Electric Investors tumbled about 14 points by early afternoon, and Electric Bond and Share half as much. American Light and Traction lost more than 10 and American Superpower, Central States Electric, American and Foreign Power Warrants, Northern States A. Standard Power and Light and others, lost from 2 to 5 points or more. Allied Power was strong during the early trading, but soon turned downward. American Cities A and B shares were a point of strength, influenced by a favorable earnest report.

A newcomer to the utility group on this market was Midland United Co. The company controls properties in Ohio, Indiana and Michigan. The stock traded around 31, 10 points above the price at which it was offered to the public about a month ago.

Oil futures noted resistance to the downward movement. Cities Service sold up more than 3 points to a new high above 68, allowing for the dividend, which came off today. Coder's again a high offer, selling up several points into new high ground. Some profit taking was apparent in spots, but declines were held to narrow limits.

Several of the industrials were under pressure. A. O. Smith and Tuttle Wheeler were sold moderately. Firestone was again well bought, reflecting further increases in the prices. Investment Trust and trading company issues were inclined to sag, but losses were largely moderate.

RAILROAD BONDS ARE UP WITH EASY MONEY

Total sales 13,004,000. Previous day 10,805,000. Week ago 10,825,000. Year ago 9,855,000. Jan. 1 to date 2,229,311,000. Same year ago 2,350,100,000. Same two years ago 2,090,736,000.

New York (AP)—Railroad bonds moved higher today in line with the relatively easy money rates, but stock feature issues which fluctuate with shares showed considerable softness in the early trading.

Gains in the carrier group ran to 10 points. The weather was a factor for Chesapeake & Ohio Refunding 4 1/2, Missouri Pacific General 4 1/2, Missouri Kansas & Texas 4 1/2, Northern Pacific Prior Lien 4 1/2, St. Louis & San Francisco 4 1/2, Texas & Pacific 4 1/2, and Denver & Grand Western 4 1/2, all of which improved from 1 1/4 to 3 1/4. Delaware & Hudson 4 1/2 and St. Louis, San Francisco 4 1/2 gained 1 each.

American Telephone Convertible 4 1/2, after an early advance, sagged more than 3 points. International Telephone 4 1/2 showed a similar trend, while Atchafalaya 4 1/2 lost about 2 points. New Haven 6 1/2, the latter crossing 101.

Seaboard Air Line Consolidated 4 1/2, which made a new high for the year yesterday, surpassed that figure on a rise of more than a point to above 81. The Refunding 4 1/2 were also strong. Colorado Fuel & Iron 5 1/2 featured the industrial group with an advance of nearly 5 points. International paper 5 1/2 were more than a point. Utilities were dull.

Gorman Agricultural Bank issues again displayed strength, while Brazilian 6 1/2 were bought at higher levels.

United States government liberties and treasuries drew little attention, but quotations advanced slightly.

100,000 VISIT STATE CAPITOL DURING SUMMER

More Than 50,000 Are Conducted Through Building by Guide

Madison — (P) — More than 100,000 residents of Wisconsin, India, Spain, Canada and points intermediate have visited the Wisconsin Capitol since Jan. 1.

Sherman T. Dodge, Capitol guide, had escorted 50,211 through the building on 1,955 lecture trips up to Oct. 1, and estimated that at least that many more have been in the building without accompanying him on his trips.

His lecture tour starts with the guide's room, wherein the visitor sees the master clocks for the whole building, and the governor's reception room, modeled after one of the Dodge's Palace, Venice; to the center of the building for a talk on the marbles and general history of the building; the "most beautiful" supreme court chamber in the country, with its four paintings of early trial scenes; into the railroad commission hearing room with its murals of transportation through the ages in this part of the country; the Assembly and Senate with their significant paintings and marble columns and halls and into some of the marble halls of the building.

Of the more than 50,000 that he has shown through the Capitol more than 9,400 were Badger school children, who come here each June for graduation exercises. Thus, the month of June was one of the heaviest with 13,323 persons going through with Mr. Dodge. August because it is the vacation month, brought 13,429 sight-seeing visitors who followed the lecturer.

"There must have been about 300 honeymooners in the group this spring and summer," he said. "Oh yes, you can spot them easily."

The crowds, always orderly and attentive, he said, appear to find the court chambers the most beautiful, although the electric voting machine in the Assembly adds to that room's interest.

The largest single group that accompanied him on the trips this year was 1,300 school children from several Fox river valley counties here for graduation exercises. The average daily number accompanying him is 186. If the group is small the inspection, not including a trip to the dome, takes less than half an hour; if a larger number go along and there are loggards the trip lasts over 45 minutes.

Mr. Dodge's figures are kept, in addition to a long list of signatures in the Capitol guest book. It registers persons this year from all the states except Nevada and New Hampshire and from Alaska, Mexico, Canada, and several South American, Africa, India, Spain, Italy, France, Germany, Norway and Sweden and several Canadian provinces.

Many of those who do not follow the lecturer wish to go to the great stone dome of the state building and look out over the four lakes that surround Madison.

Lilies Of Valley, In Dark Corners, Live Long

Lilies of the valley are an annual delight in the garden and they will take possession of a shady corner and flourish for years, spreading in a wealth of their white bells so delightfully fragrant. However, the modern lily of the valley sold by seed houses is far superior to the old-fashioned types so familiar for many years. They produce longer spikes, bigger bells, and more bells to the spike. Each sprout also will produce bloom while many of the plants in the open will have only leaves.

They are specially prepared for the trade and are much more satisfactory for garden purposes. They are so inexpensive that they may be dug up when through blooming and thrown away if the space is desired, for later plants and replaced by new plants again in the fall. The chief objection of lilies in the valley in the garden is their fast spreading habit.

They are so easily grown as house plants that they have become one of the most popular of indoor plants in the winter. The prepared plants bought at the florists are best for this purpose. Plant half a dozen in a five inch pot, the tips of the growing points just below the surface of the soil. Set them outdoors, keep moist and allow them to freeze. Then bring them in as desired and they sprout into immediate growth and in a few days they are in bloom. They can then be set outdoors again to die into the ground in spring if desired.

The lily of the valley of the seed house is an improved form of the old-fashioned native. It has been developed by selection to larger and much longer spikes and stems of better length for cutting. There are several strains all of which are good. Begin potting up lilies of the valley now for a continual supply in the house this winter and plant a patch in some convenient corner for a supply to cut next spring. They are beautiful with pink early tulips in bowls in the house where their fragrance is greatly appreciated. The botanical name of the lily of the valley is convallaria majalis. They should be ordered by the hundreds for the season's supply. They are procurable nearly all winter as the plants are kept in cold storage until wanted for growth.

The High Court of Judiciary of Scotland has decreed it a crime to steal automobiles for joy riding.
